Former President Roosevelt Denies Getting Drunk, but Tells Jury of Drinks During War, Hunts and Campaigns

IS SUING EDITOR FOR $10,000, ALLEGING LIBEL

(By Associated Press.)

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 27.—Theodore Roosevelt appeared here today in what was probably an unique occasion in history when in effect he, although a former president of the United States, defended himself under oath against an allegation of drunkenness.

In substance Colonel Roosevelt defended himself as a man of complete sobriety, although not a total abstainer. Leading points in his testimony were:

"I am not a total abstainer."

"I have never drunk a highball or a cocktail in my life."

"I don't smoke, I don't drink beer and I don't drink red wine."

"I have never drunk whisky or brandy except when the doctor prescribed it, or possibly on some ocasion after great exposure when I was chilled through."

"The only wines I have drunk have been white wines, madeira, champagne, or very occasionally a glass of sherry."

"At home and at dinner I often drink a glass or two of white wine and poland water."

CHAMPAGNE HE DRINKS.

"At public dinners I sometimes drink a glass of champagne or perhaps two. On an average I may drink one glass of champagne a month."

"There was a fine mint bed at the White House and I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps there in a year."

"On the African trip the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of whisky and a bottle of brandy. The brandy was for me, because I don't drink whisky. In the eleven months of the trip the doctor administered just seven ounces of it to me for medical purposes. I never touched it except on his advice. The champagne was used for three of our party who were ill and for some sick strangers."

"On speaking tours, by direction of Surgeon General Rixey, I sometimes took a goblet or two of milk before retiring, and in each there was sa measured teaspoonful of brandy."

"Since leaving the White House I think I have tasted mint juleps twice—part of a glass at St. Louis and a sip from a loving cup at the Gridiron Club, Ark."

THOSE MINT JULEPS.

When Colonel Roosevelt remarked that he might have drunk a half-dozen mint juleps in a year at the White House, a twitter went around the room when Attorney Pound, on direct examination, asked if he drank them all at one time or more than one at a time. To the best of his recollection he had never taken more than one on the same occasion.

Cross-examination of the colonel was conducted by Horace Andrews, of the defense.

The former president said he had not been in Michigan except on a "flying trip" for over 10 years, and that his acquaintance in Michigan was limited.

"Do you know Mr. George Shiras?" the colonel was asked.

"I know Mr. Shiras," he answered.

Q.—"Was it in Washington that you met Mr. Shiras?"

A.—"When he was in congress."

Q.—"Now your acquaintance while you were in the city of Washington and

M'MILLIN, OF TENNESSEE, DRAWS A PERUVIAN POST

Former Governor Will Be Envoy and Minister to Peru, $10,000 Annual Salary

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Ex-Governor Benton McMillin, of Tennessee, will be appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the republic of Peru. The announcement is made on high authority, and it may be stated definitely that Mr. McMillin will accept the post, and leave for Lima immediately following confirmation by the senate, which will be expedited just as soon as the president sends in his nomination.

The Peruvian post pays a salary of $10,000 a year, and in many respects is one of the most desirable assignments at the disposal of the state department. The post is now held by H. Clay Howard, a Republican.

There has been the slightest doubt of Governor McMillin's appointment in the diplomatic service since the inauguration of President Wilson and the appointment of William J. Bryan as secretary of state. The Tennesseean is held in high esteem by both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan.

He was a ranking member of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives many years ago when Mr. Bryan first broke into public life through election to congress from Nebraska. Mr. Bryan was associated to the ways and means committee, and worked in harness with Mr. McMillin. A mutual attachment sprung up, which has continued ever since.

Governor McMillin has remained in Washington almost steadily since the inauguration, supporting the hands of the administration in its efforts to fulfil party pledges. Recently he contributed an interesting story on the income tax to a well known and popular magazine. His work has been complimented very highly in official circles in Washington.

CHEERS QUELL HISSES WHEN HOOPER SPEAKS TO CONFEDERATE VETS

First Session of United Confederate Veterans' Reunion Held in Chattanooga Auditorium Tuesday Morning

THIN LINE OF GRAY SEES U. S. CAVALRY ON PARADE

(By Associated Press.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 27.—A few audible hisses which later were drowned out with cheers and applause followed the introduction of Governor Ben W. Hooper, of Tennessee, today at the first meeting of the United Confederate reunion here.

The demonstration delayed the governor a brief period in beginning his address. Quiet was restored when Chairman W. E. Brock, of Chattanooga, rapped for order, and the governor delivered his speech without interruption except for cheers.

Governor Hooper is said to have been the first Republican state executive to welcome delegates to a United Confederate Veterans' reunion.

Rumors were current at camp Stuart and in the city last night that there was a possibility of a hostile demonstration. These rumors apparently had no discernable source, but were so persistent that Mayor Thompson, of Chattanooga, and other city officials had taken steps to quell any disturbance. Governor Hooper also is said to have been informed of the reports being circulated.

DEMONSTRATION SHORT LIVED.

The demonstration, however, was so short lived that it was not necessary for the city officials to take action. The applause and cheers drowned out the few hissers.

Long before the hour at which the first meeting of the Veterans was schedule dto convene, the auditorium was filled to overflowing and many persons were standing. Southern tunes were played by a brass band and each selection brought forth volleys of cheers.

Uncle was played ag General Bennett Young, commander-in-chief of the U. C. V., and his staff marched to the platform and were seated. All of the veterans arose in a body and the applause last for several minutes.

The first session was called to order by Chairman W. E. Brock, in charge of local arrangements for the reunion, who introduced General John B. Hickman, commander of the Tennessee division U. C. V. General Hickman called upon J. W. Bachman, of Chattanooga, chaplain general of the U. C. V., who delivered the invocation.

The visiting veterans were extended a cordial welcome to the city and state by Mayor C. Thompson, of Chattanooga, and Governor Ben W. Hooper, of Tennessee.

HOOPER'S SPEECH.

Governor Hooper apparently was unmoved when interrupted at the opening of his address. He began speaking, however, a few moments while Chairman Brock rapped for order and then resumed.

United Confederate veterans, in their twenty-third annual reunion, were welcomed on behalf of Tennessee by Governor Ben E. Hooper, who, while trusting "that the wisdom of diplomacy and the justice of peace shall have gained supremè possession of the hearts of men," wished that "if either may cannot be yet realized," the republic might have as her defenders such men as the Confederates were fifty years ago.

"We of this generation," he said, "which has come on since the war of the sixties, should not forget that the soldiers on both sides of that conflict drank to the bitter dregs a cup which had been prepared for them before they were born, and which otherwise might have been passed on to us. The war between the states was an inherited war. The seeds of inevitable conflict had been sown in our federal constitution at its very inception, and the aged men we see here today were fated to live at a time when these seeds should spring up and bring forth their awful fruitage of civil war."

"I deem it the proud privilege of a lifetime," he told the veterans and visitors, "to welcome to Tennessee soil the venerable survivors of the world's greatest war. The lengthened vista of the years lends stature to Alexander, Caesar, Hannibal and Napoleon, and invests with extraordinary splendor the valient deeds of those who followed

A THOROUGH CLEANING NEEDED!

WITH ONLY $71,000, CITY IS ASKED FOR BUDGET OF $451,211

Current Demands of the Departments, Amounting to $152,211, Will More Than Consume Mid-Year Surplus

Chairman Humphrey, of the council finance committee, Tuesday morning gave out figures to show that all the money available for the June budget will be needed to meet the current needs of the various departments, and therefore that the committee will have no money for the many special projects which are being urged.

According to his figures, the present surplus—that is, the amount available at this time to be apportioned—is $71,000.

The departments have asked for $152,211 to supply current needs. Of course they can get along with less, but they are almost obliged to have this amount.

The total amount of money required for the special projects which are being urged is $299,000.

This makes a total of $451,211 which the finance committee has been asked to provide in the June budget.

WHAT DEPARTMENTS WANT.

Fire, $1,300; waterworks, $12,315; law, $2,390; Grady hospital, $46,000; detention hospital, $1,500; health department, $14,537; sewer department, $26,250; police, $4,100; prison, $1,551; sanitary, $1,685; city hall, $16,530; parks, $13,000; library, $1,200; schools, $15,000.

A list of the special projects before the committe is as follows:

Whitehall street regrading, $30,000; widening Peachtree street from Ellis street to Harris street, $5,000; purchasing Mosley place in Battle Hill for city park, $45,000; purchasing Dargan place in West End for city park, $7,500; building new English-Commercial school for girls, $75,000; building new school in Eighth ward, $50,000; building new Davis street school, $50,000; repairing building to accommodate overflow from schools in Ninth ward, $9,500. South Forsyth street regrading, $8,000; West Hunter street regrading, $3,500; Ivy street regrading $30,000.

HUMPHREY WANTS BONDS.

Discussing the city's financial situation, Chairman Humphrey said:

"The city is growing so rapidly that the natural increases in the operating expenses of the various departments more than eat up the increases in the city's revenue. This fact is well illus-

Flagler's Will Gives Estate of $60,000,000

His Widow Bequeathed Big Share of Interests—Parrott to Remain Head of Road

(By Associated Press.)

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., May 27.—Henry M. Flagler's will was filed today and under it, J. R. Parrott is to remain at the head of the Florida East Coast railroad, so long as he may desire. This provision is in recognition of his long and faithful service and great executive ability, displayed in handling Mr. Flagler's properties.

The estate is estimated to be worth between sixty and seventy million dollars, most of which goes to the widow.

The son, Harry, will receive 5,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock, said to be valued at five million dollars.

J. R. Parrott, R. H. Beardsley and William Keenan, a brother of Mrs. Flagler are named trustees under the will, which includes among other bequests a gift of $75,000 to the memorial Presbyterian church of St. Augustine, $60,000 to the University of Florida and $75,000 to Stetson university.

As a token of his personal esteem for J. R. Parrott and in recognition of his long service with the Florida coast railroad, Mr. Flagler leaves him $100,000. In reference to the bequest to the University of Florida, attention is called to the fact that Mr. Flagler made the institution a gift of $20,000 some years ago.

Other bequests include one of $10,000 to James Maguire, who has long been connected with the East Coast railroad hotel system; W. H. Chambers, comptroller of the Florida East Coast railroad, $5,000, and R. P. Goff, former superintendent of the road $5,000. In addition there are many smaller bequests to friends and servants of Mr. Flagler. All the rest of the estate, including all of the vast railroad interests of the dead magnate is bequeathed to the widow.

The will was made in 1898 and bears six codicils.

One significant feature of the will is that nothing is left to the Flagler hospital.

RALPH JOYNER GETS A REDUCED SENTENCE

Son of Capt. W. R. Joyner Must Serve Six Months for Deserting Army

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The sentence of Ralph Joyner, of Atlanta, son of Captain W. R. Joyner, who was convicted for desertion from the army, has been reduced from forfeiture of all pay and three years at hard labor, to six months' imprisonment in the army post at Fort Worden, state of Washington. Young Joyner was a member of Company 108, coast artillery.

Besides desertion, he was charged with losing clothing and conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, in violation of articles of war. The commanding general believed there were mitigating circumstances that justified a reduction of the sentence of the court-martial.

GREGORY SEEKS EVIDENCE ON NEW ENGLAND ROADS

BOSTON, May 27.—With the arrival today of T. W. Gregory, special agent of the department of justice, the federal authorities opened an investigation into the management of all New England railroad companies to determine whether provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law have been violated.

TWO WOUNDED WHEN BANDITS ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP OPERATOR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., May 27.—In a battle fought between a sheriff's posse and six men, alleged to be bandits, who only a few minutes before had demanded "the life of Telegraph Operator Thomas Sorrells or $40," Deputy Sheriff J. P. Gaines, of Bartow county, and Frank Nation, an alleged member of the gang, were seriously wounded last night. Nation and two other men were captured after 100 shots had been fired in the running battle, which took place at Hugo, a small telegraph station of the Western and Atlantic railroad, six miles from Cartersville.

Deputy Sheriff Hicks, of Cobb county, Special Agent F. C. McIntyre, of the Western and Atlantic, and a posse, with dogs, are following the trail of the other three bandits.

The battle with the officers followed a hold-up that savors of western frontier days. Sorrells and his friends are alleged to have found an illicit distilling plant Sunday afternoon. It is claimed that the plant was damaged to the extent of $40.

"MONEY OR LIFE."

About 11 o'clock last night, a gang of six men, alleged to have been led by Frank Nation, surrounded the telegraph tower, and at the point of guns, demanded that the operator give them $40. Sorrells was unable to furnish the money and the alleged bandits are said to have cut the wires.

Through an oversight of the men, communication was not stopped to Junta, a short distance from Hugo. Sorrells called called for help and Junta notified Cartersville.

Special Agent F. C. McIntyre, of the W. and A. R. R., who lives here, organized a posse consisting of deputy sheriffs and others and went to the scene on a freight train.

At the same time Deputy Sheriff Hicks, of Cobb county, was notified and accompanied by his brother, Bob Hicks, left with his dogs in an auto, both parties arriving there at about the same time.

Frank Nation and his gank anticipated the arrival of the officers and left Hugo. The officers immediely gave chase and overtook the men, and a fusilad eof shots was the result. The officers captured three of the gang and lodged them in jail. The officers are still in pursuit of the other three and expect to capture them today.

The three alleged bandits who were taken were Frank Nation, John Goddard and Engel Haney. All were taken to Marietta this morning and placed in jail there.

Governor's Son and Mayor's Daughter Fired From School

(By Associated Press.)

DENVER, Colo., May 27.—Teller Ammons, son of governor Elias M. Ammons, of this state, and Miss Evelyn Arnold, daughter of Mayor Henry J. Arnold, of Denver, with fifty-eight fellow students of the five high schools of this city have been expelled from school by Superintendent Smiley, who alleges they belong to secret societies. Many of the expelled students are seniors and would have graduated within two weeks.

Young Ammons several weeks ago announced he would begin the circulation of a referendum petition to refer to a vote o fthe people, the assembly bill signed by his father prohibiting membership to secret societies in high schools, within the state.

COL. FELDER RIDICULES IDEA OF GRAND JURY INVESTIGATION OF CITY DETECTIVES' CHARGES

Declares Chief Beavers Is Only Bluffing, and That if All the Allegations Made by the Police Were True, It Wouldn't Be a Case for the Grand Jury, as He Has Violated No Law in Seeking Evidence of Corruption in Police Department

CHIEF BEAVERS CONFERS WITH SOLICITOR DORSEY IN REFERENCE TO LAYING WHOLE MATTER BEFORE JURY

He Expects the Solicitor's Co-operation—James Conley Is Identified by Mrs. Arthur White as the Negro She Saw Lurking Near the Elevator of the Pencil Factory on Day of the Tragedy—"This Is H—— of a Family Row and No Place for a Stranger," Says Tobie

Colonel Thomas B. Felder Tuesday ridiculed the statement of Police Chief James L. Beavers that he would insist upon the grand jury making a searching investigation of the charges against Colonel Felder and also the countercharges published by the latter against the police and detective departments.

Colonel Felder appeared to be very much amused while discussing Chief Beavers' declaration, while hh branded as bluff and bluster. "I don't believe Beavers has the least idea of going bfore the grand jury," he said, "but even should he do so there is nothing for the grand jury t consider.

"If all the charges which the police and detectives have made against me were true no law has been violated. I have a perfect right to seek truthful evidence from whatever source I may choose.

"If the grand jury cares to investgate my charges against the police and detective departments I will have no hesitancy in supplying it with a list of the disorderly houses and gambling places which are operated in Atlanta without police interference, and an amazingly long list it will be, too.

"Why, there are more houses of an immoral character in the territory between the Baptist Tabernacle and the governor's mansion than ever existed in the old segregated district, and places of this kind are scattered throughout the city, no section being immune from them.

Colonel Felder was disinclined to give out any extended statement Tuesday, but admitted that he was gathering material which might later form the basis of a sensational expose.

CHIEF CONFERS WITH THE SOLICITOR.

Chief Beavers Tuesday reiterated his determination to take the entire controversy before the grand jury. He conferred with Solicitor General H. M. Dorsey during the morning and eequested the solicito to aid him in submitting the matter to the grand jury.

Solicitor Doresy stated that he was very busy in the superior court with other cases and would be engaged all this week, but that on next Monday, or any time thereafter, he would be in position to go into the case with the chief.

Following ais conference with the solicitor Chief Beavers expressed the opinion that Mr. Dorsey would lend him every assistance in getting both the charges against Colonel Felder and those made by him against the police and detective departments before the grand jury.

When the grand jury adjourned last Saturday it was not to meet this week unless specially called by the solicitor. Foreman L. H. Beck reiterates his statement of Monday that he has not called a special meeting of the grand jury and at present has no intention of doing so.

It is said that unless warrants are drawn and some one committed to the grand jury Solicitor Dorsey will not himself take the initiative in starting a probe. It is within the province of the grand jury members themselves, however, to hear the testimony of whom they please and when they please.

Neither Chief Beavers nor Chief Lanford shows any disposition to permit he matter to drop without an investigation and their efforts to institute a grand jury probe will probably be continued until there is some action.

BUNRS MAN HAS WITHDRAWN.

It became known Monday evening that the Burns' detectives had withdrawn from a further investigation of the Phagan case. C. W. Tobie, the Burns' man who has been here for two weeks, announced that he "came down here to investigate a murder case, not to engage in a petty political row." "This is a h—— of a family row and no place for a stranger," he is quoted as saying.

Mr. Tobie intimated that the Burns detectives might continue a secret investigation of the Phagan case but that he would leave either Tuesday or Wednesday for Chicago.

Tuesday morning Carl Hutcheson, a young lawyer connected with Colonel Felder's law firm, addressed an open letter to Police Chief Beavers and Detective Chief Lanford in which he accuses them of permitting disorderly houses to operate on Ivy, Spring, Pryor and other streets.

Neither of the chiefs saw fit to make a detailed reply to Mr. Hutcheson. Chief Beavers remarked that Mr. Hutcheson "was but a small cog in the gang machine and that he did not care to dignify him with notice." Chief Lanford said: "I am too busily engaged with important matters to give time to a controversy with small fry like Mr. Hutcheson. If he has evidence that disorderly houses are operating in Atlanta he should submit it to the chief of police or to me. His complaints would receive the same careful attention as those of any other citizen."

JAMES CONLEY IS IDENTIFIED.

It was announced Tuesday morning by the city detectives that Mrs. Arthur White, wife of a machinist at the National Pencil factory, had identified James Conley, the negro sweeper, as closely resembling the strange negro she saw lurking near the elevator in the factory shortly after noon of Saturday, April 26, the day of the Phagan murder.

Conley is the negro who swears that on Friday, April 25, he wrote two notes at the dictation of Superintendent Leo M. Frank, and that the notes he wrote were very similar to those published as having been found by the dead girl's body.

Mrs. White, who it is admitted by several witnesses, including Frank himself, visited her husband on the third floor of the factory, between 12 noon and 1 p. m. on Saturday, April 26, has consistently maintained that while ascending the factory stairs she noticed a negro man standing near the elevator. No other witness, not even Frank, who was in the office on the same floor as that where the negro was alleged to have been, has stated that a negro was in the factory at the hour named.

At first it was thought that Mrs. White must have been mistaken. However, since Conley confessed to writing the notes the detectives have laid more stress on Mrs. White's testimony. According to the detectives Mrs. White then picked Conley from a dozen other negroes and declared she believes him to be the negro she saw near the elevator.

BELIEVE HE WROTE NOTES SATURDAY.

This leads the detectives to believe that if Conley wrote the notes which he says he wrote that he must have written them on Saturday instead of Friday. The negro, however, sticks to his story that he wrote the notes on Friday about 1 o'clock.

According to the several times corroborated testimony at the coroner's inquest Arthur White and another machinist named Denham were at work on the third floor of the pencil factory on April 26. Some time between 12 and 1 o'clock Mrs. White called to see her husband and about 1 o'clock Frank came up and announced that he was going to lunch and would lock the door; that if Mrs. White wished to get out she had better do so then. Mrs. White left the factory ahead of the superintendent.

"HELL OF A ROW," SAYS TOBIE.

"This is a h—— of a family row, and no place for a stranger," says C. W. Tobie, of Chicago, criminal investigator for the Burns agency, who is "chucking up" the job of getting more conclusive evidence against the murderer of Mary Phagan, who Tobie says he believes is Leo M. Frank, who has been indicted for the crime.

Tobie, who has not yet left the city, intimates that probably Burns operators will take up the case if certain evidence, which he believes to be in existence, is not produced. Should the Burns people take up again or continue the work, he says, their investigation will be a secret one, not an open probe such as he has conducted.

"I came down here," says Tobie, disgustedly, "to investigate a murder case, not to engage in a petty political row. All of this stuff seems to me to have been brewing some time, and it has just now come to the surface.

"Ever since the very first it has been repeatedly said that I was here to get further graft charges against the city police and detectives, and there has always been an undercurrent of sentiment against me and my work.

CALLED IN TOO LATE.

"In the first place, I was called in too late for the sort a job it is. When I first heard of the Mary Phagan murder and was called on the job I thought it was a fresh case.

"I came here twenty-three days late, and I found that the thing was being worked from many different angles and that many of the witnesses had been interviewed by the solicitor's men, the

CHICAGO POLICE PROBE DEATH OF MYSTERY MAN

H. E. Morrison Was Involved in Mystery Which May Rival That of Johann Hoch

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 27.—The coroner will be asked today to investigate the death of Homer Edward Morrison, who was involved in a mystery which may rival that of Johann Hoch.

Morrison died last Thursday at a hospital of what was diagnosed as acute nephritis, but Dr. Darwin B. Pound, who will demand the inquiry, now suspects his patient was poisoned.

Two women already have appeared who say they were defrauded by a man named Morrison, who posed as a real estate dealer, and the police have a record of a third woman, who claims also to have been victimized.

Mrs. Pearl Devitt, a widow, asserts she gave Morrison $1,600 upon his promise to marry her. This money included her husband's insurance.

The second woman says she was Louise Beck before she married Morrison three years ago at Hillsdale, Mich. She states that she gave him $15,000.

Mrs. Devitt appealed to the police on Saturday to find Morrison. She had gone to his rooms at 367 Chicago avenue, where neighbors told her Morrison was dead and that his furniture had been moved out by a woman.

The police then found that Morrison had resided at 4919 Winchester avenue with a woman who says she was his wife. She knew nothing of his apartments on Chicago avenue.

"I thought I was Mrs. Morrison. I may be mistaken," she said.

"In his pocket after his death I found the Chicago avenue address, where I was told his things had been removed by another woman. I know now that there were many women in his life. He had his photographs taken in large lots, and always got rid of them at once."

GIRL SHOOTS MARAUDER FROM BACK OF HIS HORSE

(By Associated Press.)

SPRINGER, Okla., May 27.—Miss Lela Hesterly, twenty years old, shot Walter Hickman with a shotgun as he was riding by her home near here on horseback last night.

As Hickman fell to the ground he tried to pull his pistol from his scabboard. Then the girl rushed toward him and shot him again, killing him. She was arrested and placed in jail.

Hickman was arrested recently, charged with firing shots into the Hesterly home. He was going to Ardmore to sign a bond to keep the peace when he was killed.

CHESTERTON'S TRIAL DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Writer's Article on Marconi Wireless Company Alleged to Be Libellous

(By Assoc'a'ed Press.)

LONDON, May 27.—The central criminal court was packed today with distinguished persons of the political and literary worlds for the opening of the trial for alleged criminal libel of Cecil Chesterton, a brother of G. K. Chesterton, the author, and one of London's picturesque personalities.

The prosecution arose out of articles written by the accused, who is editor of the Eye Witness, in which he charged Godfrey Isaacs, managing director of the Marconi company, with corruption in connection with the British government's wireless contract.

The whole Marconi affair, which is now one of the foremost issues in British politics, is likely to be reviewed in the course of the trial.

WHITFIELD ROADS GOOD, SAYS CHAIRMAN DAVIDSON

Some Counties Might as Well Throw Away Road Money, He Says

DALTON, Ga., May 27.—Declaring that a few of the Georgia counties working convicts on the public roads might as well throw away their money, Chairman R. E. Davidson, of the state prison commission, talked of the system and results while on a visit of inspection to the Whitfield county camp here Monday afternoon.

Mr. Davidson did not class Whitfield among these few, being profuse in his praise of the work at the local camp.

"Whitfield county stands far above the average county employing convict labor on the roads," he said. "This applies not only to the excellent results shown in road building, but also in the method of housing and keeping the convicts, the quarters being sanitary and comfortable."

Mr. Davidson stated that in those counties where the money was being wasted, the belief prevailed that a cheap warden was economy, whether he knew anything about road building or not, the result being no results other than getting rid of money were shown. He added that the big majority of counties were getting fine results.

Mr. Davidson was driven in an automobile over one of the roads built by the convicts to the camp five miles out from Dalton, and characterized the road as a firstclass one.

GREEKS NOT READY TO ACCEPT PEACE TERMS

European Powers Urge Bulgaria to Sign Terms Without Other Allies

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 27.—A plan is under discussion here for solving the deadlock in regard to the signature of the peace treaty between Turkey and the Balkan states.

The European powers recommend those states which are ready to sign Sir Edward Gray's draft treaty without waiting for their allies. It is pointed out that Bulgaria could thus conclude terms with Turkey and the powers could then devote their attention to inducing the recalcitrant states to sign.

Sir Edward Gray, the British foreign minister, received the peace delegation separately today and urged them to sign the draft treaty, but the Greek delegates replied that they must refer the question to their government.

KING GEORGE AND QUEEN LEAVE GERMANY TUESDAY

Emperor William May Visit England to Return Courtesy in August

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 27.—King George and Queen Mary of England, terminated their visit today with a view of the Guards Army corps, which was holding its spring parade at Potsdam. The review was followed by a gala luncheon at Potsdam palace.

Their majesties left for England late in the afternoon. No confirmation was obtainable of the report received from London that Emperor William is to visit Portsmouth in August escorted by a squadron of German warships.

EASTMAN SCHOOLS CLOSE AFTER SUCCESSFUL YEAR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

EASTMAN, Ga., May 27.—After a successful year the Eastman public schools came to a close yesterday.

The commencement exercises took place at the High school auditorium.

Hon. W. A. Covington, of Moultrie, delivered the annual literary address.

There were six to graduate this year, three young ladies and three young men, viz: Misses Mamie Nelson, Juliette Harrell, Undine Bennett and Messrs. Rudolph Clements, Myrick Clements and Carson Knight.

ROME GROCERY STORES WILL CLOSE AT 6:30

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., May 27.—The grocery stores of this city have signed an agreement to close hereafter at 6:30 p. m., except on Saturday nights. The movement exemplifies the power of feminine persuasion. A delegation from the clerks' unions requested this boon from the proprietors, but met with refusal. Thereupon the clerks promptly enlisted the aid of some of Rome's leading society women who met with a much kinder reception and an immediate acquiescence to their request.

Success depends largely upon Good Health

In your race for success don't loose sight of the fact that only through good health can you attain success.

The tension you must necessarily place upon your nerves, and the sacrifice of proper exercise you have to make at times must be balanced in some way.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

is the balancing power—a vitalizing power. It acts on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, thus purifying the blood and giving strength to the nerves, indirectly aiding the liver to perform its very important work. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been successful for a generation as a tonic and body builder. Sold by medicine dealers in liquid or tablet form—trial box of "Tablets" mailed on receipt of 50 one-cent stamps.

If in failing health write Dr. R. V. Pierce's faculty at Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, New York.

DR. PIERCE'S GREAT FAMILY DOCTOR BOOK, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—newly revised up-to-date edition—of 1008 pages, answers heats of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know. "Give Me One of Those Thousand Dollar Books"

That was the way one of The Journal Booklovers asked for an Answer Book in Campaign Headquarters yesterday, and it surely is a Thousand Dollar book to some reader, $750 to another and $500 to another, and so on down the line of that glorious list of prizes that The Journal has secured for its readers. The Answer Book is surely the stepping stone to the big prizes for the simple reason that any one using the Answer Book does not have to figure that every extra answer will cost them two cents each. To submit ten answers to each of the prize pictures under the old coupon and picture plan would cost you $15.00. That was more than most of The Journal readers could afford to spend, even for the opportunity of taking home one of the big gold prizes. Something had to be done, and it did not take The Journal management long to decide the question.

"Prepare an Answer Book arranged so that each reader can submit one or ten answers on each of the prize pictures, using only one of each picture," was the order given. The new Answer Book is the result of that order, and it is now ready for you. If you have not entered this delightful Booklovers' game now is the right time to get in. All you need is the Catalogue containing all the prize titles, the new Answer Book with the first 35 pictures free, and the pictures from 35 up to date. You can secure them at Campaign Headquarters for two cents each.

CERTAINLY YOU WILL HAVE TIME TO SELECT THE CORRECT ANSWERS IF YOU ENTER NOW!

The last prize picture will not be published until June 19th; then we will give you at least three weeks to work after the last prize picture is published to get your answers in shape. That gives you 45 days in all, and half how a day for each of those days will be sufficient time to devote to the pictures and come in a winner.

Use the coupons now and get in the game while you still have plenty of time.

ODD FELLOWS BEGIN TO POUR INTO SAVANNAH

Annual Grand Lodge Meeting Will Open There on Wednesday

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 27.—Savannah is already filling up with the delegates to the grand lodge of the I. O. O. F. of Georgia, which convenes here tomorrow morning. W. S. Coleman, the grand master, reached the city this morning, as did Secretary Robertson and other visitors, including Deputy Grand Sire Daniel, of Griffin. They were met at the station by a special committee and shown many points of interest about the city. They were taken in charge by the local delegation and tendered an automobile ride with a luncheon at Thunderbolt.

The largest delegation will be that which comes from Thomasville and the stations in that vicinity, which will get here tomorrow morning on a special train. Several delegations arrived this morning in addition to the higher officials, and the town is now pretty well filled with the members of the order.

There has been established a bureau of information at the DeSoto hotel, and delegates who arrive and who have not secured accommodations should go there for assignment to rooms or boarding houses. The souvenir of this convention is to be a pennant emblematic of the order, instead of the proverbial badge which is given out at so many conventions of this character.

The visitors are to be entertained with Savannah's proverbial hospitality. There is to be a boat ride on Thursday which will accommodate about 1,500. The Daughters of Rebekah are also meeting at Savannah this week. Their advance delegations are on hand today and all is ready for the convening of the grand lodge tomorrow.

At the public exercises tomorrow morning at the historic Savannah theater there will be an address of welcome by Mayor Davant and another by Mr. T. M. Haynes, the deputy grand master. The response will be by Mr. W. S. Coleman, of Atlanta, the grand master. Haynes is to be elected grand master at this convention. The weather man has promised blue skies and ideal May weather for the visitors.

Herman Shuptrine May Run to Succeed Stovall

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 27.—Herman Shuptrine, a druggist well known in Georgia, will probably make the race for the legislature from Chatham county. He is a member of the state board of health, to succeed to Pleasant A. Stovall, who has tendered his resignation.

Mr. Shuptrine is well known throughout the country because of his connection with the Georgia and National Retail Druggists' associations.

He is always of marked interest of pharmacy.

Germans Leave for Charleston Meeting

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 27.—A large delegation of Germans left Savannah this morning via special train for Charleston to attend the annual meeting of the German societies of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina. The Savannah delegates are anticipating a very good time. They will remain there two or three days. The organizations in this union are very strong and the meetings are always of marker interest.

SCHOOLS OF CEDARTOWN END SUCCESSFUL YEAR

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CEDARTOWN, Ga., May 27.—With the completion of the commencement exercises yesterday evening, one of the most successful school years of the Cedartown schools has just ended. The commencement exercises began Friday evening when the seniors, as is customary, presented a play, the proceeds of which go to the school improvement fund.

Prof. J. E. Purks is the superintendent of the Cedartown schools.

FLORIDA HOUSE NAMES NEW COUNTY FOR WILSON

Woodrow Wilson Has Namesake That Extends From Alabama to the Gulf

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 27.—The Florida house of representatives is the first legislative body to honor the name of Woodrow Wilson by naming a county for him, and if the Florida senate acts favorably Florida will have a new county called "Wilson."

W. H. Maypoles, representative from Walton county and an editor, a warm supporter of the Democratic president, has succeeded in pushing his bill creating the county of Wilson through the house. It was passed yesterday by a good vote.

The new county will be cut from Walton and Santa Rosa counties in west Florida, bordered on the east by Walton, the west by Santa Rosa, the north by the state of Alabama and the south by the Gulf of Mexico. The county will extend the entire width of the state at that point.

STEPHENSON POSTMASTER AT TY COBB'S HOME TOWN

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—President Wilson sent to the senate today the nominations of the following Georgia postmasters:

MR. JACOB S. KITCHENS DIES NEAR LEESBURG

(Journal and Georgian Leased Wire.)

LEESBURG, Ga., May 27.—Mr. Jacob S. Kitchens died yesterday at his home near here, of heart disease. He had not been well for several weeks.

Mr. Kitchens was one of the most highly respected citizens of Lee county. He was born in this county and has resided here during the entire sixty-one years of his life. He was a consistent member of the Methodist church and a Mason, and was for a number of years a member of the county board of education.

He is survived by his wife and two brothers, M. W. Kitchens of this place, and Gary Kitchens, of Orange, Tex.

The funeral services will be held at First Methodist church of Leesburg, today. The Masonic burial service was performed at the grave.

ALUMNAE OF SHORTER HOLDS BUSY MEETING

ROME, Ga., May 27.—A busy meeting of the alumnae of Shorter college took place yesterday morning in the parlors of the college and was attended by hundreds of representatives from all parts of the South. A feature of the meeting was the address, "The Practical and Permanent Value of College Training in the Average After Life," by Mrs. Katherine H. Chapman, of Selma, Ala.

Mrs. Chapman is a member of the class of 1887, and is widely known as one of the genuinely successful writers of the south. Her latest book is "The Fusing Force," which has just been issued from the publishers.

Now Then---the Full Burst of Our Buyer's New York Purchases! We Are Up to Our Ears in New Suits, Coats, Waists & Dresses.

The Approved Styles of the Summer Season at Prices that Mark About Half of Their Value

Two weeks ago our buyer was in the New York markets helping makers "clean house." From one he got a lot of summer dresses; from another a surplus stock of suits, from others the reserve stock of waists or dresses. Still other manufacturers made up their overplus lots of materials to our order. The accumulated purchases have been piling in this week, and we shall sell them the same way. Moreover, these new arrivals force down prices on practically all our regular goods—we could not expect to get full price for them when we have styles just as good to sell a third to a half less. Starting tomorrow, then, we inaugurate a Sale of Ready-to-Wear that provides the approved styles of season at prices a third to a half less than regular.

Since All Were Bought a Third to a Half Underprice,

$5 to $8.50 Dresses $3.85

Something like 250 in all, in about a dozen different styles. White piques with colored stripes.

Pretty white voiles and lingeries, some enriched with a touch of color, most of them all white. Prettily trimmed in laces and embroideries. Also all linen dresses.

$8.50 to $12.50 Dresses $5.85

Choose from dainty crepe dresses bestrewn with colored flowers, "composed" one piece dresses, pretty ratines in solid colors, pure linens in natural, blue and white, and captivating lingerie dresses in white voile and lingerie. Charming styles, severely and elaborately trimmed. "Composed" one-piece linene dresses, the skirt of white linene, th "coatee" of brown, blue, red, pink, etc.

$15 to $23.50 Ratine Dresses $9.85

Smart styles in the fashionable Bedford cords and ratines. Some are severely tailored for simple street wear; others are rather "dressy" with lace and embroidered trimmings. Leading colors, black and white.

$15 to $18.75 Wool Dresses $9.95

"Plums" here for the woman who needs a wool dress for present or future street wear. Smartly developed serge and Bedford dresses in fashionable one-piece models. Black, navy blue, grey, tan, brown.

$25 to $25.50 Summer Dresses $19.75

A small lot from a maker, plus the odds and ends from stock. Variously in ratine and linen, very stylish; cleverly tailored and trimmed.

$6.50 Norfolk Jackets $3.85

Misses' and women's Norfolk coats for cool morning, outing and traveling wear. Developed of a superior quality bright red English flannel in the characteristic Norfolk style. Also a few blues. All sizes up to 36.

New $15 Ratine Suits $7.85

Ratine requires clever tailoring, and these suits show it in every graceful line. Simple styles, so smart for daily street wear. White, pink or grey.

New Waists in the Sale

Fresh, attractive styles—the surplus stocks of makers who supply us regularly. Duplicates of these very waists have sold here for much more than present prices.

Splendidly assorted styles in lingeries, with a sprinkling of crepes and voiles. Variously in high and low necks, some of the latter with flat and Gaby collars. Some prettily hand-embroidered, some enriched with laces, some trimmed in embroideries. Of this much we are certain—the waists are far and away the best we have had this year at their prices:

$2.50 to $4 Waists at.... $1.95 | $3.50 to $6 Waists at.... $2.95

$25 to $35 Wool Suits at $12.85

Whosoever needs a suit for traveling, seashore, mountain or present street wear can have choice here of something like one hundred in the season's approved styles.

A beautiful Bedford Cord is beautifully tailored in a dashing cutaway style, handsomely silk lined throughout, Tans, blues or greys. Actual value $35 for $12.85.

A host of white Bedford Cords with black or colored hairline stripes are shown in various styles. Usual prices $25 and $30 for $12.85.

Ratines, serges, Bedford Cords and suitings make up the rest of the assortment. Chiefly in the solid color black or navy blues. Former prices $23.50 to $29.75. Now at $12.85.

Clearaway of Ratine Suits

All the ratine suits including special purchases and regular stock now to go at reduced prices. Cutaway and Blouse styles, plain or fancily tailored in white, tan, grey, blue, rose. All $35 suits at $25. $19.75 suits at $14.75. $25 to $29.50 suits at $19.75.

New White Pique Skirts $1

Could scarcely expect to buy the material for the price, let alone the finished skirt. Cleverly tailored in simple style. Finished with five (5) big white pearl buttons at side. Plain welt, or with little pin dot. All sizes, $1.

$5 Mesh Bags $2.98 Because-- the maker has enlarged his factory. He formerly sold only to wholesalers; now, to take care of his increased output, he must sell direct to retailers.

Knowing the value of our account, he made us a special price concession to secure an opening order. The bags are here for tomorrow's selling. They will all be priced

$2.98, tho' Values Are $3.50 to $5

We're certain about the values, because we have sold similar bags (bought through a jobber) at $3.50 to $5.00.

Mesh Bags are all 5 1-2, 6 and 7 inch frames, rounded and square corners, plain, embossed or chased designs. Oxidized or polished. Long link chain, soldered links. Bag proper is made of the round, breakless mesh. About a dozen different styles; the majority shown here or anywhere for the first time. Choice $2.98.

German Silver Card Cases 49c

A very similar card case formerly sold here at $1. But the maker has lowered the cost through larger productions, and we sell the card case at a small profit as a "leader."

The frame is of filigree German silver or gun metal lined with leather. Makes combination leather purse and card case. Long link chain handles. Leather affords choice of white, black, red or tan.

(Center Aisle, Main Floor.)

50c to $1 Plain Lingerie

We stock great quantities of these 50c, 75c and $1 lingerie fabrics to match up with embroideries and laces for waists and gowns. Now that the season draws to a close we clear out stock on hand with no attempt to ward off losses.

15c

The lingerie is soft and sheer, in lengths of one and a half yards to eight yards. Very wide, 45 inches; little is required for a dress or waist. Pink, blue, yellow, cream and tan. Choice, the yard, 15c.

75c to $1.25 Emb'd. Flouncings 59c

Sheer white 45 inch voile and lingerie flouncings charmingly embroidered. Some of the voiles embroidered in the striking Bulgarian designs. Chiefly $1 and $1.25 values at 59c.

25c to 39c Lace Bands at 19c

OIL MEN GATHER HERE FOR ANNUAL CONVENTION

Interstate Association of Oil Mill Superintendents Meets in Atlanta June 4

The Atlanta convention bureau has secured another big convention which will meet here the week of June 4. It is the annual convention of the Interstate association of oil Mill superintendents, its members drawn from the states of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

The growth of this organization in the last three years has been surprising. At the first convention, held in Macon in 1911, but fifty members were present, last year 200 gathered in Atlanta and this year reservations have been made for 400.

The oil men will have their convention in connection with the local auxiliary of superintendents of oil mill machinery, the men who manufacture the products which the others use. This auxiliary, of which J. C. Burress, of the Burress Engineering company in the Empire building, is president, and S. C. Myers, associate editor of the Southern Engineer, is secretary and treasurer, has occupied the whole floor of the main auditorium, where the convention will be held, with its exhibits of machinery. These exhibits last year were packed with ease into Taft hall, but this year have increased to such a number that they need larger accommodations.

The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, June 4, by J. T. Holmes, of Shellman, Ga., president of the association. The address of welcome will be made by Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau. Mr. Holmes responding.

Sessions will be held at the auditorium Wednesday morning and afternoon. Wednesday night there will be a smoker and Thursday night the members will attend the Forsyth theater in a body. Friday afternoon the Atlanta Manufacturers Supply company will entertain the convention at a barbecue at East Point.

A man living at Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, nor run up a heavy doctor's bill, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." He has had no return whatever of the pain, backache and burning. His name is J. A. Fenner, and he says: "Of course I recommend Foley Kidneys Pills as a very effective cure for kidney and bladder trouble." For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

DISCUSS NEGRO PROBLEMS AT ATLANTA UNIVERSITY

The eighteenth annual conference for the study of negro problems was held Monday at the Atlanta university. The theme of the conference was "Morality and Religion Among Negro Americans."

At the morning session the subject for discussion was, "Social Service and the School." It was attended by a large number of students and their friends.

In the afternoon 170 little negro children from the five kindergartens went through their exercises on the campus, their parents and friends forming an admiring audience. Following the exercises, a number of interesting reports were read concerning the work of Atlanta institutions for social betterment among the negroes.

At the evening session the subject was, "Social Service and the American Negro." The principal speaker was Dr. W. E. B. DuBose, of New York.

WOODMEN OF WORLD TO ENTERTAIN COMMANDER

Visiting Commander and Secretary in Atlanta on Way to Jacksonville

Joseph Cullen Root, sovereign commander of the Woodmen of the World, and John T. Yates, sovereign secretary, of Omaha, Neb., arrived in Atlanta Tuesday at noon for a stay of two days, during which time they will be entertained by local members of the order. General Yates was accompanied by his wife.

Mr. Root and Mr. Yates are on a tour of the principal southern cities on their way to the biennial national convention of the order, which meets in Jacksonville early in June.

They were met at the Terminal station by officials of local camps and were escorted to the Piedmont hotel. Tuesday night the visitors will be entertained at a reception at Odale hall by the J. C. Root camp, No. 80. Dr. F. L. Rosenthal, of Columbus, representing the 600 camps of Georgia, will deliver an address of welcome, and will be followed by speeches by General Yates and Judge Roan.

Wednesday morning the visitors will take an automobile trip about the city, leaving for Columbus Wednesday afternoon.

"ISRAEL AMONG NATIONS" STEREOPTICON'S SUBJECT

Phillip Sidersky begins a series of stereopticon lectures Tuesday night at the First Baptist church at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "Israel Among the Nations," a timely subject that is claiming much attention among Christian people. Mr. Sidersky has just returned from New York, where he addressed a large congregation at the Calvary Baptist church. He is a member of the board of National Federation of Gospel Missions, and is superintendent of Emanuel Missions to the Jews in Baltimore.

Mr. Sidersky will speak at the Central Presbyterian church Wednesday, at the First Baptist church on Thursday, and on Friday night at 8 o'clock there will be a mass meeting at the First Presbyterian church in the interest of Jewish missions in the city at 8 o'clock.

The public is invited to attend these meetings.

MR. R. J. APPLING DEAD; FUNERAL ON WEDNESDAY

Mr. R. J. Appling, aged sixty-one years, died Monday morning at his residence at Brown's mill, which formerly was known as Appling's mill. He is survived by his wife, four sons, D. W., J. F., S. T. and R. O. Appling, and three daughters, Mrs. T. Lynn, Mrs. W. L. Hendon and Miss Bella Appling.

The funeral will occur at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning from Mount Zion church, with interment in the church yard.

AUTO TRANSIT TO BE BEGUN ON SOUTH SIDE

Citizens living on the Jonesboro and Brown Mill roads have formed a company known as the South Side Transit company, for the purpose of furnishing transportation to and from the city to residents of those districts.

It is contemplated to connect at present with the street railway service at Lakewood Heights, later the service may be extended to the center of the city.

Asks News of Husband

Mrs. C. B. Allen, of Blackwells, Ga., asks information in regard to the whereabouts of her husband, who, she said, left his home in Fairburn, Ga., on April 17, 1913, and has not been seen since.

She believes, she declares, that he has met with foul play. All information will be received at Marietta, Bell phone No. 2220, or at Blackwells, Ga.

POLICE "PULLING" BOX IS KNOCKED OUT BY FLASH

Officer Klack Jolted by Lightning, Early Tuesday, at Signal Station

Patrolman J. J. Klack, of the local police force, was knocked unconscious early Tuesday morning when he toched a police signal box which was charged with electricity from a lightning flash.

The accident occurred at the corner of Houston and North Pryor streets, about 6:30 o'lock. Klack was intending to report to headquarters.

As he opened the signal box a lightning flash struck a wire which connected with it. Klack was knocked flat on his back. Passersby succeeded in getting him to his room, where he lay un*conscious for several hours.* He finally recovered.

MRS. CAMILLA W. CALLAWAY TO BE BURIED TUESDAY

Mrs. Camilla Willingham Callaway, aged thirty-seven years, died Sunday night at the residence, 360 Ponce de Leon avenue.

She is survived by her husband, R. M. Callaway, one daughter, Miss Marcella Callaway, three sons, Rev. R. F., and A. V. Callaway, and one sister, Mrs. W. H. Pinson.

The funeral will occur at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the residence, and interment will be at West View. Rev. A. M. Hughlett will officiate.

INMAN PARK CHURCH HAS CHILDREN'S DAY SUNDAY

The Inman Park Methodist Sunday school will hold its annual children's day exercises on next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock in the Sunday school room.

The church is located at 770 Edgewood avenue. The exercises will consist of singing and recitations by members of the primary and intermediate departments and by the older pupils as well.

GLOBE-TROTTER POSSESSES MARVELOUS LOOSE JOINTS

Ellis Whitman, 24 Years Old, Can Even Throw His Heart Out of Place

A young man who can dislocate practically every joint in his body, and even throw his heart out of place so that it seems to beat near the waist line, is sojourning in Atlanta in the course of a trip around the world.

His name is Ellis Whitman. He is twenty-four years old and has been giving demonstrations of his extraordinary joints since he was five years old.

Having made himself the marvel of members of the medical fraternity on two hemispheres, Whitman is desirous of giving an exhibition before the Fulton County Medical society.

He says doctors frequently have warned him against dislocations. But he has been doing them nearly all his life; they are his way of making a living, and he had no intention of giving the mup.

NEGRO SHOT BY OFFICER; TRIED TO USE A KNIFE

Cliff McLendon, a negro, dies in Grady hospital with a bullet wound in his neck as the result of an attempt to knife Call Officer Milam Monday night at 8 o'clok when the policeman with his partner, Call Officer Wood, raided a crap game at 67 Thurmond street.

As the officers entered the house McLendon made a lunge at Milam with a long sharp knife, but was knocked back. He came on the second time, still brandishing the weapon, it is said, when the officer shot him. The bullet went through the negro's neck, and he ran two blocks before finally overtaken and sent to Grady hospital.

Four other negroes, alleged to have been in the game, were caught and sent to police station in the patrol.

Rev. C. N. Donaldson Here

Rev. C. N. Donaldson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Charleston, S. C., for many years a resident of Atlanta, is spending the present week visiting in Kirkwood. He spoke Monday morning before the Baptist Ministers' association. He will return to his church in Charleston on Saturday.

MACHINE TO SORT COINS INVENTED BY ATLANTIAN

Ed Haralson, Former Adding Machine Agent, Perfects Labor-Saving Device

A machine to assort and count coins has been invented by Ed Haralson, an Atlanta business man, and in the preliminary tests has operated perfectly.

It is an adaptation of the endless chain idea. There is a box or rack over which the chain passes, operated by a hand crank at the side. On top is a hopper into which the coins are poured.

A handful of coins, or a batful as the case may be, are poured into the hopper. The crank is turned. The coins feed from the hopper onto the chain. The dollars stop at the top chain, and are conducted to the side and dropped into a pocket. The half dollars stop at the second chain, and are conducted to a pocket. The quarters stop at the third chain, the nickels at the fourth, the pennies at the fifth, the dimes at the sixth.

It is expected that the machine will prove a great time-saver in banks and other business houses where large gaveamounts of money are counted.

Mr. Haralson, the inventor, used to be connected with the Wales Adding Machine company, and from the adding machine he got his idea. He has been working three years. Six months ago he gave up all other business, moved to Atlanta and opened a shop at 73½ Marietta street, and began devoting all of his time to his invention. Now he has perfected it and applied for a patent, which will be granted in the next few weeks.

Revival Closes

EASTMAN, Ga., May 27.—The revival which has been in progress at the First Christian Christian church of this city for the past three weeks came to a close last night. Dr. E. A. Blalock, of Waconer, Okla., has been doing the preaching. The music has been in charge of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Baird.

TRIED TO POKE OUT HIS EYES, SAYS PETITIONER

In a personal encounter that took place in the lobby of the Alfriend building, as alleged in a suit for $2,500 damages brought by O. M. Sutton against W. M. Henry, the plaintiff charges that Henry attacked him with an umbrella and tried to stick the sharp end into his eyes. The suit was filed in the superior court Monday by Attorney Frank L. Neuville.

The court paper is a lengthy one, and goes into detail as to the alleged encounter. After he was struck, the petitioner alleges, he was rammed in a corner and then the umbrella was brought into play. He claims that the umbrella was jabbed at one time down his back.

In addition to bodily injuries, the plaintiff charges that Henry ruined his $50 suit of clothes.

DR. HALL RETURNS FROM BIG PEACE CONVENTION

Dr. J. J. Hall has just returned from the great arbitration congress at Lake Mohawk, N. Y. Representatives from different parts of the United States and from Canada were present. Celebration on a large scale of the 100 years of peace between Great Britain and the United States will be held among English-speaking people throughout the world.

47 GAMBLING CASES TRIED IN ONE HOUR

Recorder Pro Tem Preston disposed of the forty-seven men who were caught in the raid on the Continental club rooms, 59 1-2 South Broad street, in the short space of one hour Monday afternoon, freeing all but three men and the proprietor.

The latter, George Poulas, was bound over to the criminal court in the sum of $5,000, charged with running a disorderly house, keeping it open on the Sabbath day, tippling and running a gambling house. Arist Sumples, George Tsaffas and Charlie Churcolos were bound over for gambling.

Miss Roseboro' Thinks These Are Good Stories

See if You Agree With Her

Miss Viola Roseboro', Collier's new Story Editor, possesses the unusual faculty of choosing stories that thrill and happily entertain people.

It was this rare ability that won her the honored position, Official Critic of the Authors' League of America.

And it also led to her present connection with Collier's Weekly.

Miss Roseboro' is no respecter of reputation. The most famous writer in America has not the least assurance his production will be accepted by Miss Roseboro'.

On the other hand, Miss Roseboro' readily accepts the writings of a man or woman she never heard of, provided the story, in her judgment, is of sufficient calibre.

Be it remembered that Viola Roseboro' discovered O. Henry and Rex Beach; that she brought to light Booth Tarkington, Myra Kelly, Arthur Train, Stewart Edward White, Mary Stewart Cutting and Josephine Dodge Daskam.

* * * *

Below are briefly set forth the stories Miss Roseboro' has chosen for this week's issue of Collier's.

She regards them as exceptionally good.

And we believe you will agree with her.

In case you are not a yearly subscriber to Collier's, ask your newsdealer for this week's issue. It is out today—5c.

The Joke on the High Constable—By Francis G. Burrows. Maybe you think it has become so that all Christmas stories, Thanksgiving stories, Decoration Day stories, etc. are bores, but the High Constable will show you that you are wrong. He is not wax-works made for the occasion; you will like him while you laugh at him, and love him when you stop laughing, and at last get warmed up to forget what you ought to forget on Decoration Day, and to remember what should be remembered.

His Last Argument—By H. H. Herr. Given a determined man and a burning cause—when words have failed to win a victory, what form will argument next take? Will he rely on action or on illustration? Or will it be on both? Bradford, of the Morning Chronicle, simply had to win his last argument. You will like his choice.

Sending a Boy to Mill—By C. O. Shepard. Some happenings are such essentially good stories that everybody who hears of them tells them again, and they get handed down in families, and become part of the program when one yarn is being matched with another. "Sending a Boy to Mill" is just one of these; a story, but not "fiction"; a happening, not dressed up and filled out, but told as the members of the Loyal Legion tell such heart-warming good jokes to each other.

The Story of a Modern Marriage—By Emily Calvin Blake. Does the modern woman make a success of marriage? Can she combine the pursuit of a profession and the rearing of children? Must she choose between work and matrimony? One woman solved the problem. Her account of the way she did it will interest both women and men.

FLORIDA ADOPTS KITE'S FULL CREW MEASURE

Railroads Operating in Everglades State Must Maintain Full Crews

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 27.—The most acrimonious debate of the session took place last night over the full crew bill of Kite for all trains as recognized by the labor unions.

An attempt was made to amend the bill to accept roads of a hundred miles and less, and when that failed there was another amendment proposed to gut the regulation of the matter under the railroad commission.

This brought on argument which suggested railroad control of certain members, and this was warmly resented.

Representative Newlan announced that he was "hot headed" and his "blood was boiling," and he would not be insulted when Kite intimated that he was speaking in favor of the railroads.

The same thing occurred as to Representative MacWilliams when Speaker Harris said that two years ago he had proposed the same amendments to the bill relating to the telephone companies. The bill was debated more than an hour in the presence of a packed gallery, but passed without amendment, 82 to 12.

Representative Bill Mapoles passed his Wilson county division bill yesterday afternoon. The original name of the county as proposed was Yellow River, but Mr. Mapoles, being an ardent admirer of Woodrow Wilson, substituted the name of Wilson. It went through by a good majority, though Fenn and Bryan, of Santa Rosa, pleaded with the house to postpone the bill.

The Everglades dredging bill for $6,000,000 to complete the drainage canal system was passed by 49 to 7.

The Worley and other bills relating to the standard of citrus fruit before shipment, have been referred by committee to the house without recommendation, despite a hard fight of commission men for change in existing law.

General opinion is that a substitute bill will be adopted which will meet the approval of State Chemist R. E. Rose and the Florida citrus exchange, Rose declares that no standards less than 130 and 175 should be accepted.

DIPLOMAS ARE AWARDED AT WESLEYAN COLLEGE

Closing Exercises Held Monday Night—Dr. Snyder Delivers Address

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., May 27.—The Wesleyan commencement closed last night with the literary address of Dr. W. H. Snyder, president of Wofford college. The address was delivered in the main auditorium of the college in the presence of one of the largest graduating classes in the history of the old institution.

Dr. J. W. Lee, pastor of the St. Luke Methodist Episcopal church of St. Louis, Mo., delivered the commencement sermon Sunday morning. During his discourse Rev. Lee pictured the life of Joel Chandler Harris and Henry W. Grady as model of duty in religious as well as social life.

Most of the students left for their respective homes today, where they will spend the next three months enjoying a vacation. The work of the historic institution this year has been successful and pleasing to the board of trustees that met recently for their annual meeting.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE HELD FOR POSTMASTER

On June 28 the United States civil service commission will hold an examination at Union Point to fill a contemplated vacancy in the postoffice at Woodville, a position that pays $554 a year.

All persons twenty-one years old and over are eligible. In states where women are declared of full age at eighteen they will be eligible at eighteen or over.

GERMANS GATHER FOR CHARLESTON MEETING

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 27.—The eighth annual convention of the South Atlantic League of German Societies opened here this morning. Delegates from Atlanta, Jacksonville, Macon, Tampa and Savannah have arrived. Four other cities will be represented. A grand concert by 250 male voices features the program tonight.

WILL HOLD DEBATE AT AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Graduation Exercises Will Be Held Wednesday Morning, Diplomas for Sixteen

The commencement exercises of Agnes Scott college, at Decatur, will be continued Tuesday night with the annual debate of the two literary societies in the college chapel. The subject will be, "Resolved, That the Panama canal should be free."

Graduation exercises will be held Wednesday morning when sixteen young ladies will receive diplomas.

The formal exercises Monday night consisted of a glee club, concert, in which the chief participants were Miss Almeda Sadler, Miss Isabelle Norwood, Miss Jean Ashcraft, Miss Pauline Bruner and Miss Rosa Hill.

Exercises that were not on the formal program, however, were held after the concert, when the young ladies of the senior class solemnly bade farewell to student days by making a bonfire of their text books, following a torchlight parade in which both the senior and sophomore classes took part.

ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES AS RESULT OF SMASH-UP

George B. Greenwood, who claims an earning capacity of $200 weekly, filed suit Tuesday for $10,000 damages against the Georgia Railway and Power company as the result of being struck by a trolley car while driving an automobile across South Pryor street from Fulton street. The plaintiff claims to have lost half of his earning power as the result of the accident.

The smashup took place, the petitioner says, on April 30 last. He had three ribs broken, his back wrenched, shoulder sprained and bruises and sprains in divers portions of his body, the petition states.

The plaintiff alleges the trolley car was running about twenty miles an hour, while the city law allows a maximum speed of fifteen miles, and only four miles at a grade crossing.

The petition was filed by Attorneys Hill and Wright for the plaintiff.

SOUTHERN IS SUED FOR COUPLER'S DEATH

Mrs. Kate Ryan, as temporary administratrix for Mrs. Nora Ryan, widow of J. L. Ryan, who met his death in the act of coupling cars in Inman yards on March 5 last, has brought suit against the Southern Railway company for $40,000 damages for the life of the deceased.

The plaintiff alleges that the railroad company's cars could not couple by compact, and that this fact was the cause of Ryan being crushed to death. The petition alleges the man was in the act of performing his duty, which was that of a car coupler, when he was caught between two cars and crushed so badly that he died on the way to the hospital.

NEW ENGLAND CASUALTY CO. ENTERS LOCAL FIELD

Spratlin & Harrington, of Atlanta, have been appointed general agents in Georgia for the New England Casualty company for the writing of employers' and automobile liability, burglary, accident and health and plate glass lines.

The firm of Spratlin & Harrington was organized about one year ago and has been successful in building up a good line of accident and liability business for the Equitable Casualty company of Atlanta and the Interstate Casualty company of Birmingham. The Equitable Casualty company recently decided to discontinue its commercial department and confine its operations to the monthly payment business. This necessitated the general agency taking on some other company to take care of its policyholders.

JUSTICE LAMAR COMING TO WARM SPRINGS MEET

Supreme Court Justice, Son of Georgia, to Be Shown Due Honor

Justice Joseph R. Lamar, of the United States supreme court, will arrive in Atlanta Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock en route to Warm Springs, where he goes to deliver the principal address before the members of the Georgia Bar association.

The distinguished jurist, a native son of Georgia, will be met at the terminal station by a committee from the association and escorted to his train which leaves shortly after his arrival in the city.

Lawyers of Atlanta were anxious to entertain Justice Lamar, but found that it would be impossible to do so owing to his short stop here and the necessity of his returning immediately to Washington at the adjournment of the convention.

NOTORIOUS DAN SHAW IS AGAIN A FUGITIVE

Atlanta and Atlanta's police force are quit of Dan Shaw, notorious blind tiger and bane of city officials for months past. If Shaw is not out of the state by this time, he is making the fleetest kind of tracks getting out.

The man who precipitated a pardon controversy between Mayor Woodward and Recorder Broyles is again a fugitive from justice, this time on the charge of contempt of court. Officers believe that he has left Georgia, subsequent to his action in not appearing in court Monday afternoon.

Shaw is the man who was pardoned by Governor Brown some time ago, on the charge of selling whisky, on condition that he would leave the state. There was a city charge against Shaw as well as the state charge. Recorder Broyles refused to let the offender escape the thirty days' penalty, so Mayor Woodward stepped in and pardoned him, thereby bringing on a lively tilt with the recorder.

Sunday night Shaw, with forty-six others, was arrested in a raid on the Continental club, where it was alleged that gambling was going on. When the men were tried in the recorder's court Monday afternoon, Shaw was not among those present.

Officers believe that he has left the state, and although he is charged with contempt of court, no effort will be made to apprehend him as long as he keeps out of Georgia.

W. J. BRYAN ARRIVES MONDAY FOR SPEECH

Secretary of State to Address Audience Starting Tech Celebration

The first member of the Wilson cabinet to visit the south will be Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan.

It was thought for a while that President Wilson himself might come south to the Presbyterian convention, and later there was some expectation that Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels would be the first cabinet member to visit Dixie, but circumstances prevented either of them from coming.

Mr. Bryan will make a flying trip to Atlanta Monday to deliver the quarter-centennial anniversary address to the students and friends of the Georgia School of Technology, at the Grand opera house. It will be the first public address of such a character that Mr. Bryan has made since he became secretary of state.

It will be the first college address ever delivered in the south by a United States secretary of state.

Mr. Bryan will reach Atlanta Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock over the Southern railway. A suite of rooms has been reserved for him at the Georgian Terrace hotel.

Mr. Bryan will make his speech at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening at the Grand opera house, as stated. All friends of Tech and the general public are cordially invited to be present. There will, of course, be no admission charged.

TECH ALUMNI LUNCHEON WILL BE HELD JULY 11

Chamber of Commerce Will Take Big Part in Quarter-Centennial Celebration

It has been decided to hold the alumni luncheon of the Georgia School of Technology on July 11. In addition to the alumni, there will be present the trustees and various city officials.

The committee on arrangements of the chamber of commerce decided at a meeting Monday afternoon to take part in the quarter-centennial celebration of the Georgia School of Technology, and as a committee to confer with the Atlanta graduates and plan for the occasion the following were appointed: A. R. Colcord, Robert Gregg, J. B. McCrary and W. P. Walthall.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR BIG HOLIDAY PARADE

Local retail grocers and commission men will meet at Taft hall in the auditorium-armory at 8:15 Tuesday night to make plans for the coming parade which they and their employes will stage on June 4 to inaugurate the beginning of Wednesday half-holiday to be in force through the months of June, July and August.

New firms are joining in the movement of the retailers every day. The meat packers and the commission men, the latter with sixty-five autos, have joined the ranks. The Tip-Top bakery also will furnish a number of machines.

Harry Schlesinger, John McCullough and Olin Stamps will address the meeting Monday night.

DANGER IN MEAT EATING

Medical Reports Show That People Who Eat Much Meat Are Susceptible to Typhoid Fever.

The death rate of Typhoid has been 10 per cefit for many years. Even if patient recovers, there is danger. Weakened constitution, languidness, loss of energy, and other after effects.

In a majority of cases typhoid fever is directly traceable to an inactive liver which has refused to clear away the masses of meat particles left undigested in the alimentary canal. This mass putrefies and sends out death-dealing poisons, to result in typhoid fever.

JACOBS' LIVER SALTS is the greatest known liver stimulant. Its action is gentle, yet effective. It draws water to the alimentary tract, flushes the stomach and bowels, washes away the undigested meat particles and removes the danger of fermentation. The blood is purified through the renewed activity of the liver.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT does not cause nausea and vomiting, and there are no dangerous after-effects as with calomel. Don't take an inferior substitute; many imitate the name but cannot produce the same natural, flushing action of the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. At all druggists, 25c. If your druggist cannot supply you we will mail full size jar upon receipt of price, postage free. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., Atlanta.—(Advt.)

Music for Men

Darwin, when he was old, regretted that he had so concentrated on his life work as to have neglected music

Had he lived in this age, the EAROLA INNER-PLAYER Piano would have afforded him ample means of gratifying his musical taste.

For business men and professional men, life is too short to begin the mastery of the keyboard.

The EAROLA INNER-PLAYER

makes this unnecessary. The accurate striking of each note is accomplished for you.

You have but to focus your attention upon the proper expression—interpretation. And here, after all, is where you discover the real charm and fascination of music.

A visit to our warerooms will convince you that the music produced on our EAROLA INNER-PLAYER Piano is not mechanical.

The principal office of said association shall be in the city of Atlanta, state and county aforesaid.

5.

The object of said corporation is pecuniary gain to itself and its shareholders.

6.

The business to be carried on by said corporation is the erection, furnishing and controlling of a Pythian Castle for the use of the various Knight of Pythias bodies, in the city of Atlanta, and the particular business of said company to be the renting and maintaining of said building.

7.

Petitioners desire the right to have the subscription of said capital stock paid in money or property, to be taken at a fair valuation, and that 10 per cent. of the capital stock to be actually paid in before the commencement of business.

8.

Petitioners pray for the right to buy and sell real estate and personal property; to encumber its own property by mortgage, lien, or other security, and to issue bonds thereon at the discretion of its board of directors; to adopt by-laws usual for such corporations; to sue and be sued; to plead and be impleaded; to have and use a common seal; to execute notes and bonds as evidence of indebtedness incurred, or which may be incurred in the conduct of the affairs of the corporation, and to exercise all and singular the rights and privileges conferred by law upon like corporations.

9.

They desire for said corporation the power and authority to apply for and accept amendments to its charter of either form or substance by a vote of a majority of its stock outstanding at the time.

10.

They desire for the said corporation the right of renewal when and as provided by the laws of Georgia, and that it have all such other rights, powers and privileges and immunities as are incident to like incorporations or permissible under the laws of Georgia.

WHEREFORE, petitioners pray to be incorporated under the name and style aforesaid, with the powers, privileges and immunities herein stated, such as are now, or may hereafter be, allowed a corporation of similar character under the laws of the state of Georgia.

THOS. J. LEWIS,
Attorney for Petitioners.

Filed in office, this May the 6th, 1913.

Pinkerton men, the city detectives and many newspaper reporters. Of course they were tired of talking about the case, and I hesitated at asking them to tell their stories again, simply for the benefit of the Burns people.

"I didn't stop at that, but now that the Mary Phagan murder is almost forgotten in a bitter political row in which every man is trying to cut his neighbor's throat, I have to call the deal off.

"I have never tried to get anything against the city detectives or police, and I have never been even requested to make any sort of an investigation for them, but still that seems to be what everybody thinks I am here for.

WORK NOT BLOCKED.

"Despite reports I have never found myself blocked by the city detectives. It is true that the people have gotten tired of telling their same stories over and over again, and that is all of the trouble I have experienced."

Tobie first announced his intention of quitting the investigation to Solicitor General H. M. Dorsey Monday evening. He determined to drop the probe last Friday afternoon, when The Journal's exclusive story told of charges of attempted bribery lodged against his employer, Colonel Thomas B. Felder, by the city detectives.

Tobie says that the presence here Monday of Dan P. Lehon, superintendent of the Burns southern office, had nothing to do with his decision to quit the case. He says that he simply notified Mr. Lehon of his decision as a matter of courtesy.

"If I did continue the work on the Phagan matter I would get credit for trying to expose the city detectives, and that I am not doing," says Tobie.

MAY MAKE SECRET PROBE.

While he says that he is convinced that Frank is the murderer, Tobie says that the evidence in the hands of the public is not conclusive, and that Burns men will make a secret probe if "certain features" do not develop at the proper time.

Tobie declares that the confession of James Conley, the negro sweeper, that he wrote the notes for Leo M. Frank is a bad feature of the case.

"Conley says he wrote the notes Friday," Tobie remarked; "yet I can't believe that the crime was premeditated. If he had said Saturday, it would have been different. His story puts a new angle on the matter."

Tobie is bitter over efforts to blacken his character, and arraigns his former employers, the Pinkerton Detective agency.

DENIES KIDNAPING CHARGE.

Relative to his alleged attempt to kidnap the incubator baby in Sedan, Kan., Tobie says that he was working under the Pinkertons, who simply located the baby for a woman from whom it had been kidnaped.

In the matter he says he knew only the head of the Kansas City Pinkerton agency. When he located the baby he wired the official, who told him to await the arrival of parties with a letter of introduction. These parties, a lady and a gentleman, arrived and presented the letter. He then shipped the case, he says, after telling them where the child was. Subsequently they attempted to kidnap the baby, he says, and were caught.

The Pinkertons, he said, "try to blacke nthe character of every man who quits them, and that is what they have done to me."

An interesting feature of the Phagan case Tuesday morning was a visit to police headquarters of Newt Lee's real wife, from whom he has been separated for more than five years. This is the first time she has attempted to communicate with the negro, although the woman with whom he boards and who was said to be his wife has repeatedly visited police headquarters.

The negro's wife, after conferring with the detectives, went to the tower with Detective Starnes, promising to assist the police in getting the truth out of her husband.

COLONEL FELDER SILENT.

Colonel Thomas B. Felder Tuesday morning had no comment to make upon the action of the Burns detectives in severing their connection with the Phagan murder case investigation.

"I have nothing whatever to say," remarked Colonel Felder in reply to a question from a Journal representative.

"Will you issue any statement during the day?" he was asked.

"I don't know. I will have a conference with my friends and decide that later," said he.

Newt Lee Sticks to His Original Story

Attorney Bernard L. Chappell, counsel for Newt Lee, the negro night watchman of the National Pencil factory, who is held under direction of the coroner's jury in connection with the murder of Mary Phagan, Tuesday morning requested the jailers at the Tower not to permit any one to see his client unless he was present.

The attorney fears that some one might make a false affidavit as to what the negro said. He declares that he has never himself conferred with Lee unless one of the jailers was present.

Lee has never varied from the story he told to the coroner's jury. He still maintains that he knows nothing of the murder beyond the fact that he discovered the Phagan child's body in the pencil factory basement about 3 o'clock Sunday morning, April 27, and that he immediately notified the police.

The negro also reiterates his statement that Superintendent Leo M. Frank sent him away from the factory when he called there about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 26. He says he cannot understand why the superintendent seemed so anxious for him to go away.

Factory Girls Hope Murderer Is Punished

One of the young ladies employed at the National Pencil factory, where Mary Phagan met her death, who does not wish her name used, has addressed the following letter to the editor of The Journal:

"Nothing has ever been said of the girls of the pencil factory until after the terrible murder, but since then there has been one continuous talk, just as if we were to blame. We are just as anxious to see the guilty punished as the rest o fthe public, and we all loved Mary Phagan just as much as we possibly could.

"If the public only would interest itself to look into other factories and stores they would find the girls in the pencil factory are just as good as any other working girls.

"It looks mighty hard that we have to work in the place where our little friend was so horribly murdered. But we are only poor working girls, trying to make an honest living, and we try not to think of the tragedy any more than possible; and we have the interest of the factory too much at heart to desert in times of trouble.

"We all hope and pray the guilty will be punished and the innocent given freedom, for we all think our superintendent has a soul himself and that he would not think of such a thing; much less commit such a horrible crime."

Gheesland Corrects Story of Testimony

W. H. Gheesland, with the Bloomfield undertaking company, wishes to correct the statement published in The Journal that he said before the grand jury that in his opinion Mary Phagan was assaulted before she was murdered.

"The grand jury, knowing that I was not an expert and not qualified to talk on the subject," said Mr. Gheesland, "did not ask me if the little girl had been assaulted, and I expressed no opinion during the course of my examination by the jury."

Carl Hutcheson Issues Open Letter to Chiefs

Carl Hutcheson, a young attorney associated with the firm of Anderson, Whitman & Dillon, has written the following open letter to Chief of Police James L. Beavers and Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, accusing them of permitting disorderly houses to operate on a number of streets in the city:

J. L. Beavers, Chief of Police, Atlanta; Newport Lanford, Chief of Detectives, Atlanta:

In your great crusade against Sodom and Gomorrah with your immaculate robes of Purity and Purity:

I accuse you in all your glory with allowing certain houses on Ivy street, the business of which is to barter in immoral and indecent practices, to continue in flagrant operation. And you know it if you do not, every sensible citizen of this city, who knows anything of the world, does. If you do not know these things, it is your duty to know, and you should be discharged from your high pedestals for dereliction.

I accuse you of allowing similar houses to operate on certain parts of Spring street. And you know it. If you do not you should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

I accuse you of allowing similar houses to operate in a certain section of Pryor street. And you know it. If you do not, you should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

I accuse you of allowing similar houses to operate on a certain section of Central avenue. And you know it. If you do not, you should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

ALLEGED GAMBLING PLACE.

I accuse you of failing to take cognizance of a certain house in Ivy street, to which I cited your attention several weeks ago, where young men were inveigled to gamble away their money, the mistress thereof being the banker and the recipient of these ill-gotten gains. And you know it, and should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

I accuse you and numbers of your forces with being cognizant of these facts, and yet you, the great crusade leader, stand idly by and fold your lordly hands.

I accuse you with allowing, even yet, low class hotels in this city to exist and practice their nefarious games of lowly gain. And you know it, and should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

If you cannot "turn up" these places, there are hundreds of people who can. I can use infantile detective work and turn up dozens of them within a few days, and you know this can be done. And, if you fail to get busy and continue to parade your great genius (?) you should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

CHARGES POLICE PROTECTION.

I accuse you with protecting these places because of your lax methods in keeping "the houses within our midst" closed, and you know it, and should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

I accuse you of closing Manhattan avenue and converting our entire municipality into a "red light" district. And you know it, and unless you change conditions at once you should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

I accuse you of retaining on your force men unfit to protect the "decent" citizens of Atlanta, and you know it, and should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

I accuse you of knowing where numbers of houses which exist by immoral practices are located and you know it, and you should be removed from office for dereliction of duty.

Do you think taht the public will be hoodwinked forever? Do you think that the public is so gullible as to believe all of this "bush-wah" about the great work that you are continuing? Yes, you closed Manhattan avenue, but what did you do for the remainder of the city?

You and your bunch are very sore because you were unable to ferret out the Phagan murder, and you know it. When the solicitor general called in outside aid, numbers of your hirelings were very much perturbed and became insanely jealous. That is why all of this hatchet-work. Lots of lies and slanders have been issued against Thomas B. Felder, whose shoes you are unworthy to untie, and you know it.

I accuse you of retaining a large number of leather-heads for detectives. Detectives? That is a joke, isn't it? And you know it, and you should be removed from office for allowing such an army of incompetents to work with your departments. You know, and I know, that these fellows secure their offices through political pull and not through efficiency. They are Sherlock Holmeses when it comes to resting blind tigers and negro crap players, but beyond taht they would not know a clew if they saw it tagged.

In the Phagan case, the newspaper men are the ones who turned up the first clews of any merit, and you know it, and should be ashamed of that crowd down there to allow the members of the Fourth Estate to put one over on you; but you know newspaper men have brains, and brains are required to make detectives.

Now, volley forth again your promulagtion of purity and tell the people of this great city what large men you are and how you protect the citizenry of this great commonwealth.

If you haven't the addresses of the houses to which I refer, call at my office within three days and I will give you a bunch of them.

Friends of mine have advised me against printing this card. Some have feared for my life—but afraid of you and your crowd? Never. I am not afraid of anything that lays down its firearms and comes at me like a man in fair play. Now, "lay on, MacDuff, and damn'd be him who first cries, 'Hold! Enough!'"

CARL HUTCHESON.

He's a Little Cog in Gang Machine," Says Chief

"Small fry shooting bird shot," smiled Chief of Police James L. Beavers when told Tuesday morning of the open letter of Carl Hutcheson attacking him, and charging that he knowingly allowed disreputable houses to operate in certain sections of the city.

"Hutcheson is just a little cog in the gang machine, trying to divert attention from the real issue and is not worth answering," the police official said.

Chief Beavers referred a Journal reporter to the record of the "Henderson hotel case," and refused to comment further on Hutcheson, who is an attorney associated with the firm of Felder, Anderson, Dillon & Whitman.

As a result of a raid on the Henderson hotel in January and the arrest there of a man and woman, J. F. McFarland, who was represented by Attorney Hutcheson, preferred charges against five policemen: Sergeant G. C. Fain; Officers S. H. Arrowood, J. F. Welchel, C. E. Williams and J. E. McDaniels.

Attorney Hutcheson attacked the policemen who made the raid in statements at police court, and hearing of the charges against them was set for trial before the police commission. The case was reached and Attorney Hutcheson asked a postponement, saying that his client had been called out of the city.

The case was postponed until the next regular meeting of the police commission, one month liter, and then neither Attorney Hutcheson nor his client appeared to press the case.

Secretary Febuary Acted Under Orders

Chief of Detectives Newport A. Lanford has issued the following statement fully explaining the connection of his secretary, G. C. Februarywith the Felder dictograph incident:

"When it became known that Mr. T. B. Felder was willing to try to bribe one of my men to get information in the Phagan case or anything else that might be in the department, Mr. Colyar first approached me, and told me that he had suggest February to Colonel Felder.

"I then called February in to my office and the matter was explained to him and he was instructed to go ahead with negotiations. I was fully cognizant of every move, and Mr. February acted with my full authority and approval."

Police Do Not Believe Conley Guilty of Crime

The detectives laugh at the theory that James Conley, the negro sweeper, who says that he wrotes notes at superintendent Frank's dictation, is guilty of little Mary Phagan's murder.

In commenting on the matter, Chief of Detectives Lanford said Tuesday afternoon:

"We are not entirely satisfied with the affidavit Conley has made, but we have never considered him in the light of a principal or a voluntary accomplice in the crime."

E. F. Holloway, day watchman at the factory, says that he has always been suspicious of the negro Conley.

It was Mr. Holloway who caught the negro washing what at first were supposed to be blood stains from his shirt. Conley, Mr. Holloway says, often came down to the factory before it was time for him to go to work and he would sit watching the girls employed at the factory as they came in.

These circumstances, Mr. Holloway says, have made him regard the negro with suspicion since the crime.

MRS. SARAH MACDONALD SHERIDAN,
Formerly of Atlanta, now of New York, who did not contest her husband's suit for divorce in Reno, Nev.

Mrs. Sarah MacDonald Sheridan, formerly of Atlanta, has just been divorced from her husband, Charles O. Sheridan, in Reno Nev.

In Atlanta she was known and beloved for her many generous acts for charity. Frequently she would lend her wonderful voice to some benefit. After she left Atlanta Mrs. Sheridan took up sociological work in New York, and was the founder of the New National Fireside, a movement for the opening of the public school buildings after hours as meeting places for the women of the neighborhood for discussions of vital topics.

When her husband's health gave way four years ago, and he was compelled to go west, she stayed in New York, and allowed hi nto obtain his divorce without protest.

Her life had been devoted to two great impulses, she explained, when she was seen in her apartments in New York Monday. Through her voice she had been enabled to give thirty years to sociological work, only retaining enough to support life and that of her two children, she stated.

She has now seen her son, Mark Sheridan, well established as a murial painter in Atlanta, and her daughter married to David Compton, a scion of one of the oldest families in England.

With this accomplished Mrs. Sheridan stated that she believed her duty is now to work for the betterment of social conditions.

Mrs. Sheridan was one of the first to help the cause of Martha Berry Industrial school in Georgia.

Her voice is one of marvelous quality. She has been importuned by her friends and admirers to take up an operatic career. She was at one time soloist in St. Philip's cathedral, and sang in other choirs of Atlanta. She also took part in amateur operatic productions.

Mrs. Sheridan was the daughter of James McDonald, one of the leading Georgians in Civil war time. Too old to serve in the army he gave all of his property to the Confederacy and died poor. She was married in Atlanta in 1882.

Felder Barely Missed Being Trapped By His Own Dictograph

Last week, when the detectives were laying their plans to trap Colonel Thomas B. Felder with a dictograph, they came very near trapping the colonel with his own instrument.

The amusing incident, which has just come to light, revolves about Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey.

Before a dictograph was installed in the Williams house room the city detectives told the solicitor that the attorney was negotiating for the purcase for $1,000 of certain papers in the Phagan case.

The solicitor said nothing about the confidences of the detectives, and a short time later Colonel Felder told him that he was going to get the detectives.

The solicitor said nothing of the attorney's confidences.

A short time later, however, the detectives came in and asked the solicitor if he could get them a dictograph.

Mr. Dorsey says that he thought the officers wanted it for use in some phase of the Phagan case. In fact, he was busy and didn't even ask why they wanted the delicate little instrument, but immediately thought of Mr. Felder and the Burns people.

Accordingly he made an effort to secure a dictograph from Mr. Felder, and also from the Burns agent.

He failed in this attempt, and thought no more, he says, of the confidence of the detectives and of the attorney until Friday afternoon, when he read The Journal's big exclusive story of the dictograph record of Colonel Felder's alleged conversation.

Sapphires Dutiable

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The customs court has decided that sapphire bearings for electrical metres are dutiable at 35 per cent ad valorem as "articles of earthy or mineral substances" within the meaning of the tariff act, overruled the contention of the General Electric company for 10 per cent duty as "semi-precious stones, cut, but not set." Four importations were before the court.

A Silk Event

Tomorrow at Nine o'Clock

An event in much the same fashion that a thorough house-cleaning is to the housekeeper. We have gone deeply into the silk stocks, and with a purpose—a very positive purpose to bring out all odd lots, surpluses and the like, for one day's spirited selling.

Here are the results. The silks are all fine, worthy kinds, that won their way into our favor and stocks because of their beauty—of fabric, pattern and coloring—which, taken together with the new prices, tomorrow shall develop into another of those splendid Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Silk Sales.

For 85c and $1.00

59c Included are Shower-Proof Foulards, 23 and 24 inches wide. The color range, the variety of patterns are all too great to be listed here—suffice it there are small, dainty patterns new right now, in about any shade and combination of shades you might want. Also at this price are yard-wide taffetas in colors.

For 85c Shirtings

69c Those fine silk shirtings—33 inches wide, that are enjoying greater favor than in many seasons. Yes, they are washable. White grounds with colored and black line stripes.

For $1.50 to $2.25 Silks

83c Here is fine choice! Delicate chiffons in soft evening shades, plain and two-toned marquisettes, in seemingly the whole list of shades, and in Dresden patterns, plain and two-toned taffetas, corded silks and poplins, widths from 36 to 44 inches There are going to be many pretty evening dresses and street dresses chosen from among these at rich savings!

The "Classic" of All Millinery Sales

For Hats Originally $8.50 to $25.00

There is just one hat that was $8.50 in the sale---and there are one hundred and fourteen of them all told. If an average were struck it would border around the eighteen-dollar mark.

Indeed this is the "Classic" of all millinery sales!

There are hats for street wear, hats that summer travelers will want. There are black hats, black and white hats, green hats, blue hats---hats of all colors and of good style---depend upon that---the very greater part of them is from Estelle Mershon of 20 E. 46 St., New York---which is but another way of telling that the ribbons and the flowers and other trimmings are not only the choicest in themselves, but also that they are also artistically, becomingly arranged.

Five dollars!

Could one think of missing such an opportunity?

ATLANTA VETS LEAVE FOR REUNION IN CHATTANOOGA

Delegations from every camp of United Confederate veterans in Atlanta left the Union passenger station at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning over the W. & A. railroad for the big reunion in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The special train of eleven coaches rolled into the shed fifteen minutes before train time and the cars were soon filled with members of the old army of the Confederacy. Many were accompanied by their wives and daughters, and numbers of some of veterans also were on the train when it pulled out of the station.

The Dixie Flyer, which left a few minutes in advance of the special, carried over a hundred Atlantians who learned that it would put them in Chattanooga ahead of their special train, which was scheduled to stop en route and take on more of the survivors.

The rattle of the kettle drum and shrill notes of the fife heralded the approach of the veterans to the depot. Each of the camps, headed by its commander, marched into the station and formed a long line parallel to the track on which the special came in. All were safely aboard for the trip by 8 o'clock, and were happy on their way a few minutes later.

them; but when history has obtained the just perspective of Lee and Jackson, they will loom large among the colossal military figures of all times. And, what is better still, they will stand supernal among the chieftains of every race and clime, because they entered the smoke of battle with prayers rather than curses upon their lips. There could have been no such commanders as these without such men as the south furnished to the ranks of the Confederate armies.

"Among all the military conflicts, ancient and modern, which have swept our planet with fire and drenched it with blood, none has produced more splendid examples of military prowess and heroic valor among men and loyal devotion and uncomplaining self-sacrifice among women, than the war between the states.

"On behalf of every man, woman and child in the great Volunteer State, I welcome this reunion of Confederate veterans."

After brief remarks by General John P. Hickman, commander of the Tennessee divisions, and George P. Harrison, commander of the department of Tennessee, General Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, commander-in-chief of the veterans, was introduced.

YOUNG'S ADDRESS.

In his address General Young paid high tribute to bravery, and the men and women of the southern states.

Bravery and the men and women of the Confederate States, were eulogized here today in an address by General Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, Ky., comander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, in his response to speeches by state and city officials tendering the convention hall to the veterans attending the reunion here.

In paying a glowing tribute to "bravery," the speaker praised highly the Japanese courage as exhibited at the siege of Port Arthur, his remarks prefacing a comparative claim upon the city of their reunion, held by the Confederate veterans.

"We all love brave men," he asserted, "whether their skin be black or white or red or brown. There was no brave man in all the world, outside of cruel, brutal Russia, that did not rejoice when, after an exhibition not only of high skill but of the noblest valor, the little yellow men tore down the hated Russian emblem from the great fortress which Russian engineers had declared when completed 'all hell could not take.'"

The speaker then told how, after the "splendid achievement" of Port Arthur, the Japanese had hurried forward to Mukden, where as they swung into battle, they shouted "Banzai, banzai"—"Clear the way, clear the way, we be the men that come from Port Arthur."

"Men and women of Tennessee," continued General Young, "and people of Chattanooga, as we come to receive your welcome on this auspicious occasion, we feel that we are not unworthy of what you have done for us; we think that we will not be violating the proprieties of the hour if we would cry out to the world: 'Clear the way, clear the way, we are the men from Manassas, Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg, Gaines Mill; clear the way, clear the way, we are the men who fought at Shiloh, at Murfreesboro, at Franklin, at Atlanta, at Resaca, at Brice's Cross Roads; clear the way, clear the way, we are the men who fought at Wilson's creek, at Galvestan, through New Mexico, at Amsfield, at Elkhorn, at Sabine Pass, clear the way, clear the way.'"

WELCOME APPRECIATED.

In expressing the appreciation of the veterans for their welcome to Chattanooga the speaker declared: "We breath a welcome in the air, the currents of the beautiful river, flowing by your city murmur their pleasure at our presence, and these majestic mountains, witnesses of unsurpassed heroism, standing as stately guardians over battlefields made historic by the blood of heroes, give acquiescence to your gladness and your joy at the presence of these survivors of the Confederate armies. It could not be otherwise than that the people of the great 'volunteer state' should rejoice to have once more with them the men who followed the banners of the south. Tennessee gave so much in the effort to win national life for the Confederate states that it could not but be that her citizens should be pleased to look once more upon men who followed Lee, Jackson, Stuart, Albert Sidney, Johnston, Joseph E. Johnston, Bragg, Forrest, Wheeler, Kirby Smith, Price and Shelby in the most wonderful of all modern wars.

Declaring that the veterans have a history "that speaks now and that will speak for all ages to come of patriotism and heroism," General Young recalled some of the notable battles of the war between the states, dwelling briefly on incidents of each. He also paid high tribute to the women of the south and to each southern state which was included in the Confederacy.

"The name of the Confederacy," General Young added, "and of the Confederate soldier, can never die. The Confederate nation wived only four years. It made more history in those four years than any other nation that ever existed so brief a while. Time, pitiless time, has fearfully thinned the ranks of the men who fought under the Confederate standard. The death roll is ever enlarging, the demands of the grave are calling one in eight, every year. A remnant still is here, and that remnant still feels the hollest pride and boundless joy in the renown that crowns the Confederate name.

"It is ours in all its splendor and grandeur; no hand can rob us of our birthright. There are no recruits to take the place of departing comrades. They are going, going, going, and in a little while will all be gone, but in life, in battle and in death, we still stand for the Confederate soldiery around whose memory a just and impartial fate has woven an unfading wreath of glory."

More than 7,000 veteransanda much larger number of sponsors, maids of honor and visitors were present today at the opening of the twenty-third annual U. C. V. reunion.

Threatening clouds for a time led many to fear that the elaborate program for the first day might be interfered with but uneasiness later was partially dispelled when the sun flashed through the clouds and sparkled on the bright accoutrements of the Eleventh U. S. cavalry.

As the troops rode along Market street to the accompaniment of martial music there was a striking contrast between the dapper young soldiers and the grizzled veterans who lined the sidewalks to witness the spectacle.

Led by Colonel James Lockett the cavalrymen from Fort Oglethorpe formed in line on the outskirts of the city in the vicinity of Chickamauga park. Winding in and out among the streets of the city they finally passed in review before the stands which had been erected along Broad street in the heart of the business district.

After witnessing the parade a majority of the large crowd proceeded to the city auditorium where welcoming addresses and responses marked the first official gathering of the veterans' organization at the present reunion.

A number of interesting events are scheduled for this afternoon and tonight. These include the sponsors' parade and a garden party for the sponsors and visitors at Warner park this afternoon while tonight the veterans will be guests of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at a reception.

trated in the finance committee's present situation. With only $71,000 to spend, we are faced with demands of nearly hal fa million dollars.

"A bond issue is absolutely the only way the city can expecte to take care of special projects, such as building new schools, new egine houses and regrading streets."

The finance committee held another session Tuesday morning, hearing from citizens who want the city to reimburse them for the $30,000 they subscribed to pay for the regrading of Ivy street, and from various other parties.

Toward the last of the week the committee will begin the difficult task of making up the budget.

CONVICTS AT WORK ON BUTLER STREET SEWER

Important Though Long-Delayed Project Is at Last Under Way

County convicts Tuesday morning went to work on the building of the Butler street sewer in the Fourth ward.

This project, though one of the most important i nthe whole city, has been delayed by first one thing and then another, until Fourth ward citizens have grown hopeless, not to say desperate.

The delay this year was on account o fthe county being unwilling to work the convicts in the water during the cold weather, which all parties agreed was a good and humane reason.

Now, however, the work will have to be pressed to the utmost in order to be completed before cold weather sets in again.

COLONEL TELLS OF MINT JULIPS AND WINE SERVED TO HIM

possibly at Albany was with political men.

A—"Not many were political men. A great many were writers of history and naturalists."

Q—"You have many friends in congress have you not?"

A—"I have known almost every senator."

Q—"You know also a great many congressmen and received a great many congressmen at the White House and they invited you to their residences?"

A—"I received a great many congressmen but they rarely invited me to their residences."

IN SMALL QUANTITIES.

Q—"Did I understand you to say you have never taken anything in the way of intoxicating liquors?"

Q—"You did not so understand; you understood me to say that I did so only in small quantities."

Q—"The only spirituous or intoxicating liquors you took in general would be a little brandy with milk?"

A—"A teaspoonful in a tumblerful of milk."

Q—"You have never for fifteen years taken more than a dozen glasses of whisky?"

A—"Yes sir."

Q—"What do you mean by light wine?"

A—"I mean white wines and sometimes it may be a little Madeira."

Q—"Any other kind of wine?"

KEEPS WINE IN HOME.

Q—"You don't keep any wine of any kind in your house?"

A—"Red wine."

Q—"Do you keep wine of any kind in your house?"

A—"Yes."

Q—"Did you keep brandy in the White House?"

Mr. Pound—I object to that.

The court—"You may not answer."

Roosevelt—"I continued to keep wine as I found that my predecessor had done so."

Q—"Do you drink whisky or have you drunk whisky on your trips?"

A—"No, except as I have described, a teaspoonful in a glass of milk."

Q—"Now did you carry a flask of whisky or brandy with you on your trips?"

A—"I did not."

Q—"Do you know Mr. Wallace, of Detroit?"

A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"What is his business?"

A—"I don't know."

Q—"Had he anything to do with the beginning of this suit, if you know?"

A—"That I cannot tell."

Q—"Don't you know who began this important suit?"

A—"It was in the Mercy hospital, Chicago, at the time."

Q—"Did you know that Mr. Wallace had charge of it, and did you know that he had charge of employing counsel?"

A—"That I could not say."

Q—"Had you met Mr. Pound up to that time?"

A—"I may have met him."

Q—"But have you any memory of it?"

A—"I don't remember whether I met him or not."

Q—"Was Mr. Pound employed by you, that is, employed by you personally?"

A—"No, he was not employed by me personally."

Q—"Do you know who paid for the expense of taking testimony and all that? Did you stand that expense?"

A—"Yes."

Q—"And it has not been borne by any organization in the state of Michigan."

A—"It has not."

Q—"Have you or any other person had charge of it?"

A—"Mr. Pound has had charge of it."

Mr. Andrews—"I think that is all." Mr. Pound, on redirect examination, asked:

Q—"As I understand it, you have no recollection of having seen Mr. Pound in Michigan or Chicago prior to the beginning of this suit, which was some time in the month of October."

A—"I have no recollection."

Q—"As a matter of fact, you communicated with Mr. Pound by letter as soon as you were sufficiently able to do so?"

Objected to as leading by Mr. Andrews.

A—"I assume complete responsibility. No organization has any responsibility executing myself. I have it all."

Q—"Do you have hired your attorneys and stood all the expense in regard to this case?"

Mr. Andrews objected to question as leading.

The Court—"It seems to me the question is leading."

This concluded the examination.

TELLS OF LIFE'S HISTORY.

"I was born in New York October 27, 1857, and was graduated from Harvard in 1880. In the fall of 1881 I was elected to the New York legislature, where I served terms in 1886, '87 and '88. I was police commissioner of New York and was reappointed in 1889. I was appointed civil service commissioner, and served six years. In 1895 I was appointed president of the police board of New York, and served two years.

"In 1897 I was appointed assistant secretary of the navy, and served one year. In May, 1898, I resigned to take the lieutenant-colonelcy of the First United States volunteer cavalry, commonly called the 'Rough Riders,' and served during the Spanish-American war. I was in the fighting around Santiago where my regiment lost over one-third of its officers and over one-fifth of its men, killed and wounded."

"I was promoted to colonel of the regiment and made acting brigadier general, returning to Mauntak Point. The army there disbanded in September.

"AT ONCE NOMINATED."

"I was at once nominated governor of New York, and was elected. I served as governor until the end of my term, but before it ended, in the spring of 1900 I was nominated for vice president on the ticket with William McKinley, and was elected.

"I served as vice president from March 4, 1901, until September 14, 1901, when President McKinley died from an assassin's bullet. I served as president for the unexpired term of three years and a half and was nominated and elected as president in the fall of 1904.

"A little over a fortnight after leaving the presidency on March 4, 1909, I went to Africa as head of the Smithsonian expedition. I came out at Khartoum on March 15, 1910, and, after a short trip through Europe, returned to the United States during the end of June, 1910. Since then I have lived continuously at Oyster Bay and have been connected with The Outlook.

"From 1883 to 1896 I spent considerable time on my cattle ranch on the Little Missouri, in the present state of North Dakota.

"I have never drunk a cocktail or a highball in my life. With the exceptions hereafter noted, I never drank whisky or brandy except under the advice of a physician. I don't care for the taste of either.

"I don't smoke and I don't drink beer, because I dislike the taste of beer. I never have drunk whisky or brandy except when the doctor prescribed it, or possibly on some occasion after great exposure when I was chilled through, but it has been certainly fifteen or twenty years since I have drunk it because of being chilled through. I never have drunk beer, nor do I drink red wine. The only wines that I have drunk have been white wines, madeira, champagne or very occasionally, a glass of sherry.

WINE AT MEALS.

"At home I often at dinner will drink a wine glass or two wine glasses of Madeira. In summer, instead of the Madeira I will often drink a tall glass of white wine and Poland water, or Poly water. At public dinners I sometimes drink a glass of champagne, or perhaps two. I think that on the average this means that I will drink champagne about once a month.

"The only exceptions to what I have stated about drinking whisky and brandy are as follows:

"Mint juleps I very rarely drink. At the White House we had a mint bed and I should think that on the average I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps a year. Since I left the White House four years ago, to the best of my memory, I have drunk mint juleps twice, on one occasion at the Country club at St. Louis, where I drank part of a glass of mint julep, and on another occasion at a big luncheon given me at Little Rock, Ark., where they passed round the table a loving cup with the mint julep in it, and I drank when the cup was passed to me.

"The only other occasions on which I have drunk whisky have been when it has been prescribed by the doctor.

DRANK BRANDY IN AFRICA.

"During the last fourteen years I do not believe I have drunk whisky straight or with water more than half a dozen times. On the African trip the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of whisky and one bottle of brandy. The bottle of brandy was taken for me because I do not drink whisky. Some of the other members of the party drank whisky.

"The champagne was used medicinally for three members of the party who were down with fever and dysentery and for two or three travelers, hunters and missionaries we met who were sick. I never touched either the whisky or the champagne.

"Out of the brandy bottle I drank exactly seven ounces, this being given me by Dr. Mearns on two occasions when I had fever.

"The last time I told him I did dislike it and that I did not think it did me any good, and if he did not object I would take tea. Accordingly I took tea, and turned the brandy over to J. R. Cunninghame, who was managing the expedition.

"Eight months later, when we reached Khartum, he asked me what he should do with it, saying that from curiosity he had measured it, and that I had drunk just seven ounces in eleven months.

DRINKS ON CAMPAIGN.

"As for brandy I never drink it any more than I do whisky when I am alone or at home, or on a hunting trip, or in a friend's house. But on very hard campaign trips, on the advice of Surgeon General Rixey and recently of Dr. Holbrook Curtis, who attends to my throat in connection with these campaign trips, I have frequently, just before going to bed at night drunk either one or two goblets of milk, with a teaspoonful of brandy to the goblet. If there is more than a teaspoonful I dislike the taste and don't drink it. I frequently drink milk at some meal during the day, usually at lunch.

"The brandy which was used in Africa was never in my own possession, and I only took it when given to me by the doctor. I do not even carry a flask of brandy or whisky with me. I used to carry it on my hunting trips, but found that I used it so rarely that it was a nuisance and might get broken, and it has been some twenty years since I carried one.

"On my ranch we never had whisky. I never made a practice of drinking at a bar and I don't believe that I have ever drunk at a bar for twenty-odd years. I do not believe I have been inside a saloon during that time. I do not drink between meals, or except as above described.

"On campaign trips I drink nothing until, as said above, I go to bed, when I take a goblet or perhaps two goblets of milk, with a teaspoonful of brandy to the goblet, finding it rests my throat and makes me sleep well.

WINE WITH FRIENDS.

"On almost every campaign trip there will be some occasion on which I stop at a friend's house, when I will drink a glass of wine; or there will be some public dinner, when I will drink either a glass of white wine or a glass of champagne.

"For example, in the Ohio campaign last year, during the nine days, I touched nothing whatever on seven of the days excepting at night as above mentioned before going to bed not drinking a drop of any kind until I was undressed. The other two days were the occasions when I spoke at Toledo and the occasion when I spoke at Cleveland.

"At Toledo, after the speech, Mr. Garfield Mr. Post and I went to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Sheppey where we met Mayor and Mrs. Brand. Whitlock and went into the dining room to take a little supper. There was some champagne, and I first took a glass of champagne and I then found that there was a pitcher of milk and doughnuts, and I took the milk and doughnuts instead.

"On the afternoon of the day I went to Cleveland, I stopped at Ravenna at the house of Mr. Hanna. There I had a cup of tea and at dinner, I believe, but am not certain that I took a glass of champagne.

"After I returned to the car in the evening, having made various evening speeches, I am often thirsty, and take a bottle of apollinaris water, or poland water, with a glass of cracked ice, but I drink no liquor of any kind and never have drunk any liquor of any kind in the car excepting as above described.

DRY DAY AT DULUTH.

"For instance, take the day I spoke at Duluth last year. In the morning I reached Superior and spoke there. We went over to Duluth and took lunch, there being no liquor at lunch. I then dictated the two speeches I intended to make at Oshkosh and Chicago, then went for an automobile ride and afterwards took dinner.

"No liquor was served at dinner and I did not drink a drop of wine or liquor of any kind during the day.

"I stopped and spoke a few sentences to a dinner of doctors at their earnest and repeated requests. I then made two speeches in the evening. I went back to the car and got a bottle of apollinaris water and a glass with ice in it, but without any liquor of any kind, and drank the apollinaris water. When I went to bed I took two spoonsful of brandy in milk, and that was the only drop of liquor I touched that day.

JULIPS AT WHITE HOUSE.

"While at the White House I never touched brandy or whisky except in the mint juleps above mentioned, and possibly on two or three occasions when Dr. Rixey prescribed a drink of whisky—once if I remember aright, for an acute attack of indigestion and once when he and I had made a hundred-mile ride together and came in through a snowstorm and he gave me some whisky and I disliked it so that after taking a sip I would not take any more and got a cup of tea instead.

"Outside of the prescriptions of Dr. Rixey we usually had a lunch at some white wine if there were guests. Unless there were guests I drank nothing at lunch and often I drank nothing if there were guests. If we dined alone I drank nothing. If we had guests we usually had white wine, but some times madeira and at formal dinners we had champagne, of which I would drink a glass or two.

"While at Washington almost all the entertainments were at the White House itself but each member of the cabinet gave a dinner and I believe there was always champagne at those dinners and I drank a glass or two precisely as at the White House.

AT "GRIDIRON" DINNERS.

"I also on perhaps a half dozen occasions went out, for instance, to the Gridiron club dinner or to the reception on Speaker Cannon's seventieth birthday or to a dinner of the New York delegation in congress. On these occasions I drank precisely as in the White House.

"On the occasion of Mr. Cannon's evening reception, I went in company with Mr. Loeb and with James Sloane, a secret service man. The occasion was in the evening. We left the White House shortly after 9 and returned a little after 11. Mr. Loeb coming back with me and Sloane saw me to the carriage when I left.

"On such occasions Mr. Loeb frequently stayed and we did some work in the study after our return to the White House. On all public occasions Mr. Loeb went with me and also two secret service men.

"On the Cannon occasion I remember that one of these men was Mr. Sloan. It was the duty of the secret service men to go with me and to see me safely back to the White House, but on this occasion, as Sloan was in Cannon's district and had a number of friends there he did not come back with me but said good-by at the carriage and returned to the gathering. Mr. Loeb, however, returned to the White House. I was with Mr. Newberry, Mr. Cortelyou and others while there.

"Neither on this occasion nor on any other occasion did I take a glass of whisky or brandy or any liquor in any form. On this occasion I took a sandwich and a glass of champagne which I drank standing up, proposing the health of the speaker on his seventieth birthday.

NO DRINK BEFORE SHAVING.

"No man who knew me ever asked me to take any whisky because they knew that under no circumstances did I ever take it and no man on this occasion ever proposed to me to take whisky. Neither while in the White House nor at any other time have I ever drank or taken any kind of liquor between meals except as above described, and in the White House I not only did not drink whisky or brandy, but I did not know where any whisky or brandy was.

"Unless I shaved myself I was always shaved by Delaney in the room between my room and Mr. Loeb's immediately before luncheon and never on any occasion during the time that I was in the White House did I touch a drop of anything during the day, prior to being shaved.

"The routine at the White House was as follows: I had breakfast at 8 or 8:30, Mrs. Roosevelt, the children and myself. After breakfast, if the weather was good, Mrs. Roosevelt and I walked around the White House grounds for twenty minutes or half an hour. I then came over to the White House office and as soon as I reached there Mr. Loeb came in with the mail and papers to sign.

"After about half an hour of this the senators and congressmen would begin to arrive.

Hole in Window Is All That Makes This Yarn Sound Like the Truth

An argument over the relative size of a glass of beer as sold in New York and Atlanta led W. W. Baughn to throw another man through the window of a saloon on Forsyth street early Tuesday morning and then to seek the aid of some one to help him conceal the body of the man he supposed he had killed.

According to the story Baughn told in court Tuesday morning, he met a chance acquaintance in the saloon—he didn't know which one—about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. One beer led to another, and before long the pair were engaged in a hot discussion as to whether one can buy bigger beers in New York or Atlanta.

Baughn championed the Atlanta beers, the other man favored the Gotham brand. The warmth of the argument induced Baughn to seize his companion around the waist and hurl him through a window glass behind him.

Baughn then ran across the street and approached a number of men gathered on the sidewalk. He told them that he had just killed a man, and asked them to help him hide the body.

When the men went with him to look for the murdered man all they could find was a hole in the window. The man had fled. Officers were called and Baughn was taken to the police station. The recorder put him on probation at the trial.

Baughn said that he was employed in the mailing room of a newspaper.

Are You Growing As Atlanta Grows?

There are 2,000 new homes built in and around Atlanta every year.

1,200 of these new homes are built each year within the city limits.

This is the statement of the city tax assessors. Ask them.

With Atlanta growing at the rate of 15,000 new population every year, these figures are conservative.

Do you know what this means?

By just the percentage that Atlanta increases in population each year, by just that percentage grows the DEMAND FOR PEACHTREE HOMES.

In a year or two every available choice building lot will have been snapped up, and when you try to get one of them, you will find you will have to pay two or three times the present price.

President Wilson has a disquieting way of citing the public to certain doubtful procedures.

Turn On the Light.

At the risk of appearing presumptuous, but with no tinge of such a spirit, The Journal again calls the attention of the members of the Grand Jury to a duty now confronting them, namely, that of a thorough investigation of the charges and countercharges made in connection with the police and detective department of Atlanta.

We repeat, and with emphasis, what we have already said that we express no opinion whatsoever as to the truth or falsity of any of the accusations which have been brought against private citizens or public officials. We have given the public the facts as we could ascertain them—impartial, uncolored and without respect to any of the persons involved. But the record of this case as it has thus far developed leaves no doubt in the mind of any right-thinking citizen that allegations so serious and far-reaching as those which have been made, demand prompt official cognizance—demand the most speedy and rigorous investigation the Grand Jury can conduct.

This is due the people of Atlanta, the people of Fulton county and the people of Georgia; for, the good repute of the county and the State as well as of the city is vitally concerned. Echoes of these charges and countercharges have traveled far beyond the borders of the community where they arose. They are heard today throughout the South and the nation; and an interested public the country over is watching to see how they shall be dealt with, whether they shall be probed as they ought to be by a self-respecting people, whether guilt, if guilt there be, shall be winked at or brought to a just accounting, whether such practices as are alleged to have taken place and such conditions as are alleged to exist shall be sharply challenged or, through moral and legal apathy, permitted to pass unpunished or uncondemned.

Let us not deceive ourselves in this matter by fancying that it can be hushed into forgetfulness or that the issue is merely one of personalities. The good name of Atlanta is linked with that of Georgia and of all the South more closely perhaps than is true of any other American city and its State or section. The commercial progress of this city is considered an index to the country of which it is the metropolis and likewise its moral attitude is considered equally representative. We repeat, therefore, that it is due their county and their State as well as their city that the members of the Grand Jury probe these charges through all their ramifications, and probe unflinchingly until the whole truth has been brought to light and complete justice has been done.

When it is alleged on the one hand that private citizens have been guilty of attempting to bribe public employes and to undermine the usefulness of a municipal department and, on the other, that police officials are protecting vice and crime and are sacrificing public interests to their private gain—when such charges are made, they sweep immeasurably beyond the individuals concerned; they touch the rights and the welfare of the people as a whole; they become a matter which the Grand Jury, with its important and really sacred duties, cannot afford to ignore.

The Grand Juries of Fulton county have been deservedly famed throughout the State for the fearlessness and fidelity with which they challenge evil in every form and call wrongdoers, whoever they may be, to account. That is the record of the present Grand Jury as well as of its predecessors; and by that very fact we are emboldened to address its members on the situation now existing. They will not only perform a plain and urgent duty but they will also render an inestimable public service by taking up these charges and countercharges and investigating them in all their bearings until truth shall shine cloudlessly forth and the path to certain justice shall be clear.

We believe a certain ex-president will be able to show that it was grape juice.

Dental Inspection Needed In Atlanta's Schools.

The system of dental examination which was tentatively established some six months ago in two Atlanta schools has produced such remarkable results that it should be continued and extended to every public school in the city.

On October the twelfth last year, four hundred and three pupils out of an enrollment of four hundred and eighteen at Crew street school were examined for defective teeth. On May the twentieth this year, a re-examination of the same children showed an improvement of more than fifty per cent. At Bell street school one hundred and eighty-six pupils were examined last autumn and among these the recent re-examination showed an improvement of more than seventy per cent. This record proves beyond question that a majority of the defective cases found by the inspectors and reported to parents have been corrected and that as a result the children are more efficient and are more likely to grow up in good health. At the Crew street school seven hundred and thirty-five out of the one thousand teeth that needed fillings have been given satisfactory attention and three hundred of three hundred and eighty-six defects have been righted.

Had it not been for the examination, of which there was a series of three, comparatively few of the children who required dental attention would have received it. What has been done in these two schools can and ought to be done for the entire system. Medical inspection has wrought far-reaching results for the average health of Atlanta's school children; it may may be safely said that it has spared scores and hundreds of children from lifetime ills or weaknesses; it has made our system of public education more worthy its name and its ideals.

The reasons for which medical inspection was established apply with equal force to dental inspection and the results of the latter, if it is consistently carried out, will be equally fruitful and gratifying. The Chamber of Commerce, generously and ably assisted by the local society of dentists, is to be credited with having brought this good movement through its experimental stage. It now remains for the Board of Education and Council to continue and perfect an endeavor for which there is such urgent need and such ample justification.

Too many detectives muddle the case.

Salonica.

One of the noteworthy, if minor, effects of the Balkan war is its revival of interest in lands long sequestered and in civilizations which few but our antiquarians ever cared to recall. You can hear street-corner debates nowadays over the exact location of Troy Town while Mount Olympus is brought to life again in the Sunday supplement and the picture show; all because the Greeks and Bulgarians and Serbs have been scouring that enchanted picture of its Turkish dust.

Just now it is Salonica that fixes popular interest. The Greek and Bulgarian troops are said to be fighting for the possession of that ancient city which through their joint efforts was recently wrested from Turkish control. That both Greece and Bulgaria should covet the ownership of Salonica is natural; for, as the Boston Transcript remarks, "It is the chief Aegean port of the entire Balkan peninsula, has one hundred and seventy-five thousand inhabitants and does a foreign trade in peace time of twenty million dollars a year; moreover there is unbroken rail transit from Salonica into the heart of Europe."

This city was originally Thessalonica, so named, it is said, by one of its early rulers after his wife, a daughter of Philip of Macedon. Its history is interwoven with that of Anthony, Octavius and other mighty memories of classic times. It was the seat of one of the earliest Christian churches, founded by the Apostle Paul. Captured by the Saracens in 904 A. D., it fell into the hands of the Normans nearly three hundred years later and in 1430 was taken by the Turks under whose dominion it remained until the recent Balkan war.

Austria has long been ambitious to control Salonica with its great strategic and commercial advantages; unless the Greeks and Bulgars can harmonize their differences, they both may lose this prize to the ever watchful Power to the North.

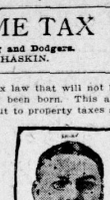
THE INCOME TAX

XX.—Tax Dodging and Dodgers.
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.



The man who can frame a tax law that will not be evaded by many people has not been born. This applies not only to income taxes, but to property taxes as well. One of the principal objections urged against the income tax is that it would make us a nation of liars and put a premium upon perjury. One does not have to go very far to find that if we regard undervaluation as lying and failure to list property as perjury, we are already such a nation and such a premium already has been placed upon perjury.

To what an unimaginable extent tax dodging has been carried on is shown by the records of the census office. In 1904 the unexempted property in the United States was valued at a little more than $100,000,000,000, this valuation being given in by the people to the census enumerators. But when the assessors of taxes went around listing tithables a little later, these same people placed a valuation of less than $39,000,000,000 upon that same property.

The worst evasion, of course, comes with personal property, because such a large percentage of that is intangible and can escape assessment. It is so bad, indeed, in many states, that if an income tax law could make it worse it would be surprising; so bad that one authority declares that few but the ignorant do not dodge personal property taxes; so bad that an Illinois commission has branded it a school for perjury promoted by law; so bad that in West Virginia they say people regard the payment of personalty taxes to be just about as voluntary as a Sunday school contribution.

How extensive the dodging of personal property taxes is may be shown by the figures from many states. The census inquiry of 1904 valued the personal property of Pennsylvania at $4,882,000,000 and the tax returns valued it at $1,104,000,000. New York, according to the census, had personal property valued at $8,500,000,000, and, according to the tax lists it was worth only $500,000,000. In the United States, as a whole the people informed the census enumerators that their personal property was worth $40,000,000,000, and declined to the tax assessor that its fair value was $9,000,000,000.

The dodging of taxes is by no means limited to personal property, for in nearly every city and hamlet and farming district there is a systematic undervaluation of real estate. Of course, there is no chance of dodging entirely, since land ownership always and everywhere is recorded. But there are innumerable instances where real estate has sold for two, three, four and even five times the value at which it was assessed. So widespread has become the practice of undervaluing real estate in the United States that the tax books show an aggregate value of only half as much as the census records. In other words, the landowners of the country told the census enumerators that their real estate was worth twice as much as they swore to the assessor it was worth.

Property owners are not the only tax dodgers in the United States by any manner of means. Even whole counties very frequently join tacitly in a movement to beat the state in which they are located out of the revenue that belongs to it. For instance, not long ago the auditor of Virginia announced that of the hundred counties in the state seventy took more money out of the state treasury for their purposes than they put in it by tax collections. Some of them have deliberately, and with forethought, fixed a rate of assessing property at a fourth, or even a fifth of its real value. This permits them to pay into the state treasury a very small share of what they ought to, and they pronounce it good business policy, since they take out of the state treasury funds apportioned on population.

From this it will be seen that the evils of tax dodging are by no means limited to income taxes, and there cannot well be a greater tax upon the national conscience with an income tax than with a personal property tax. With an exemption of income below $4,000 it is not probable that more than one man in twenty-five will have to pay an income tax, so that if every man who is liable to it strains his conscience it will be in no wise comparable, in the number of people affected, to false returns that are made in every state in the union upon personal property.

But with a system of stoppage at its source such as England has, only a comparatively small percentage of the income taxpayers can dodge it by false returns. After the Civil war there were less than 300,000 taxpayers under the income tax law, when the exemption was as low as a thousand dollars. Assuming that there would be as many in proportion today who would have incomes of $4,000 the total number directly affected would not be more than 750,000 and of these, the bulk of the incomes (according to the English experience, four-fifths), would have little opportunity for tax dodging. It is probable that a system of stoppage at the source would reach a larger proportion of taxpayers in the United States than in any other country, including England, since a larger proportion of the wealth of the United States is corporate wealth. For instance, the corporation tax returns show a total corporation capital in the United States of $60,000,000,000, which is probably more than half of the total wealth of the country as it will be revealed when the census bureau finishes its tabulations of wealth. In 1904 the total national wealth was placed at $107,000,000,000.

In England many methods of evasion are resorted to, some legitimate and others clearly unlawful. Many corporations which are in reality English corporations with branches in other countries assume to be foreign corporations in England. Some corporations which do business abroad, in order to save their incomes from that business from being taxed, establish permanent branches abroad and never bring the income home. The English liken this to the policy of American manufacturers who, in order to get around the tariffs which other countries levy against American goods, build branch factories in the countries where they desire to avoid duties, and do their manufacturing there rather than to make their products in the United States and ship them into the countries in question.

Still another way to dodge their income taxes, resorted to by English gentlemen, is to turn over shares in corporations to their sons, the income therefrom to serve in lieu of allowances. If the father paid the allowance itself, he would first have to pay his tax upon the income it represents. But when the son gets the dividends from the stock direct he escapes such a tax. But with all the forms of tax dodging that are resorted to in England in connection with the income tax, it is estimated that only about $650,000,000 of income arises from sources where a careful and persistent checking up is not possible.

Penalties fixed by law for dodging income taxes as well as those for dodging other taxes vary in the several countries that have such taxes. In some cases a falsification of returns by omissions is penalized more severely than failure to make any returns whatever. In some countries the penalty is made an amount double the tax evaded, in others treble, and in at least one country the person evading any tax is liable for half of the income upon which he dodged the tax. Some countries aim to encourage men who have given false returns to act if any pangs of conscience attack them as a result. This is accomplished by a provision that if any man dodge his tax and voluntarily comes forward at any time thereafter and confesses his fault and pays the taxes dodged no penalty shall be imposed and he shall be absolved from censure.

Marriage and Personality

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

My dear Clara and George—You ask me to give you a little advice as you are starting upon your honeymoon. Nothing is easier. Advising is the best thing I do. It is practicing that comes hard.

I have seen many successful marriages; and not a few failures. Of course, no set of rules could indicate with certainty the way of success, because marriage is an adjustment of two personalities, and personality is the most intricate and least understood of subjects. Still, here goes for a few hints.

First, let each other alone. Don't undertake to rule. Don't attempt to control your partner. Respect his individuality. And whenever I say "him" I include "her." Let him have his own religion, politics, tastes, views on art and literature, opinions about baked potatoes, shoes, shirts and newspapers. Unity of opinion is impossible unless one party is a nonentity. The only kind of union that is workable and can be permanent is unity in love and service. To seek union in tastes, ideas and beliefs is to insure contention and alienation. So that, if you clearly have it recognized at the first that each of you is to live his own life in his way, you will save your matrimonial craft from shipwreck upon those rocks where nine-tenths of the disasters occur.

The Bible says, "They twain shall be one flesh." Marriage is a physical oneness. The soul-mate idea is not only false but dangerous. Two souls can never be one. If they were to become so they would lose their charm. Each must retain its individuality. Your spirit is your own, not your husband's, nor your wife's.

It is from this difference of personalities that friendship arises. One who always agree with you, accepts your views as his own, and in general sneezes when you take snuff, sinks to the position of your slave, your mistress or your valet. To have something like an enjoyable friendship there must be an interplay of minds, based upon perfect liberty of thought and taste.

Do not try to probe into each other's mind and heart too deeply. Love is a matter of faith, not of knowledge. Keep a little apart. Respect each other's privacy of feeling and opinion. Many a love has been killed by an insane desire to tear off all the veils of the soul.

You must believe in each other. You must trust, and that implies that you do not know. Loving your wife or husband is much the same in quality as loving God, and the effect of perfect love and confidence in one case is not unlike the other.

Selfishness is its destruction, selfishness which brings pride and jealousy, stubbornness and self-pity, and all the maudlin weaknesses that undermine the strength of love. Hence, be yourself, let your partner be himself or herself, be unselfish and be loyal. Above all, cling to love, and do not sacrifice it for any other thing.

The Magic Thames

I live now as it were in two worlds, the world of sight and the world of sound; and they scarcely ever touch the other. I hear the grind of heavy traffic, the struggle of horses on the frost-breathed ground, the decorous jolt of omnibuses, the jangle of cab bells, the sharp warning of bicycles at the corner, the swift rattle of costers' carts as they go south at night with their shouting, goading crew.

All these things I hear, and more; but I see no road, only the silent river of my heart with its tale of wonder and years, and the white beat of seagulls' wings in strong, inquiring flight.

Sometimes there is naught to see on the waterway but a solitary black hull, a very Stygian ferry boat, manned by a solitary figure, and moving slowly up under the impulse of the far-reaching sweeps. Then the great barges pass with their confined treasure, drawn by small self-righteous steam tug. Later, lightened of their load, and waiting on wind and tide, I see them swooping by like birds set free; tawny sails that mind me of red-roofed Whitby with its northern fleet; black sails as of some heedless Theseus; white sails that sweep out of the morning mist "like restless gossameres." They make the bridge, which is just within my vision, and then away past Westminster and Blackfriars the St. Paul's great dome lifts the cross high ove, a self-seeking city; past Southwaik, where England's poet illuminated the scroll of divine wisdom at the sign of the Tabard; past the Tower with its haunting ghost, of history; past Greenwich, fairy city, caught in the meshes of riverside mist; and then the salt and speer of the sea, the companying with great ships, the fresh burden.

At night I see them again, silent, mysterious; searching the darkness with unwinking yellow stare, led by a great green light. They creep up under the bridge which spans the river with its watching eyes and vanish, crying back a warning note as they make the upper reach, or strident hail, as a chain of kindred phantoms passes, plowing a contrary tide.

Throughout the long watches of the night I follow them; and in the early morning they slide by, their eyes pale in the twilight; while the stars flicker and fade and the gas lamps die down into a dull, yellow blotch against the glory and glow of a new day.—"The Roadmender," by Michael Fairless.

A Neglected Art

(Kansas City Star.)

We have all aspired and striven to be the sort of accomplished person that we never could become. The most matter-of-fact man in town, likely as not, has tried his hand at verse making or taking lessons on the mandolin, or stealthily attempted an oration with pebbles in his mouth. This, of course, is as it should be, since it is the method of discovering true talent as well as the lack of it.

But, for all our industry, not a few of us have missed things we might have done well. How many young women, who will faithfully practice singing with throats never meant for song, could become an everlasting joy to their friends if they would apply themselves with half the zeal to the art of reading aloud! A lamentable constraint seizes upon otherwise gracious persons when they try to do this simple thing. The Fifth Reader was the last fair practice they had.

We have a hopeless time emulating the vivacity and wit the acquaintances of Burns, for example, admired in his conversation, but we may reflect a little of them if, on occasion, we know how to read sympathetically from his books. A sick room, evenings at home, even lovers' meetings may be enriched and enlivened by wise exercise of the accomplishment.

The Art of Economy

All economy, whether of state, households, or individuals, may be defined to be the art of managing labor. • • • Now, we have warped the word "economy" in our English language into a meaning which it has no business whatever to bear. In our use of it, it constantly signifies merely sparing or saving. economy of money means saving money—economy of time, sparing time, and so on. But that is a wholly barbarous use of the word—barbarous in a double sense, for it is not English and it is bad Greek; barbarous in a treble sense, for it is not English, it is bad Greek, and it is worse sense.

Economy no more means saving money than it means spending money. It means the administration of a house; its stewardship; spending or saving, that is, whether money or time, or anything else, to the best possible advantage.—Ruskin.

THEATERS

ATLANTA—"St. Elmo."
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and pictures.

Maggie Cline, of "Throw 'Em Down, McCloskey" fame, is this week's headliner at the Forsyth. She is billed as the Irish Queen, which sobriquet she won years ago by singing Irish ballads as no one but Maggie Cline can sing them. She sticks to these songs, and even affects the Shamrock green in her costumes. She is a wonderful woman for her age, and is agile and humorous. In a way, she is as wonderful for her years as Bernhardt. She, of course, rings in "McCloskey" before her act is over.

The other acts on this week's program are all entertaining, and are well selected as to variety.

There is a pretty blond girl, Ethel Kirk and she has a funny partner, Billy Fogarty. Everyone who attends vaudeville remembers his comical manner, as he is a favorite in Atlanta. To come back to his fair partner, Miss Kirk has a fine voice, which she knows how to use, and she makes a handsome stage picture.

Howard (or "The Great Howard," as he is billed) has a good ventriloquist act, in which he uses two dummies. His tooth pulling was so realistic as to be almost painful. Outside of this really "serious" turn there was nothing but fun to this number.

Cesare Nesi, a handsome young Italian, sang several songs in a pleasing manner. His voice is one of unusual sweetness, and he does not go too much for the high-brow stuff. His selections were what the masses want.

A little playlet by Madden and Fitzpatrick combined humor, pathos and melody. It was "The Wanderer," and began with a poor struggling artist who was starving on Christmas eve because the landlady had held up his only pair of trousers (returning from the pressers) for an unpaid board bill. In the meantime he has made an engagement for a "real feed" uptown. During the playlet Madden, a ragtime artist, amuses the audience with some excellent stunts on the piano.

Carl Rosine and company open the bill with a magician number, and the program is closed by "The Equilli Bros." in a clever balancing act. As usual, the Pathe pictures follow the vaudeville.

By vote of the patrons of the Atlanta theater, "St. Elmo" is the play which the Billy Long stock company is presenting there this week. Despite the fact that it has been seen here time and time again, a fair sized audience witnessed Monday night's performance, and apparently was as pleased with the production as if it were on its first trip to the city.

The play is almost as well known as Augusta Evans Wilson's book, and the story itself is an old one, the tale of a broken man who is brought back to see the good in life by the love of a young and tender girl.

Miss Long proved that she can change from the part of a woman of fifty, one week, to that of a girl of fifteen the next. As Edna Earle, the barefooted little daughter of a blacksmith, her acting was as fine and sincere as it was last week in the role of Frisco Kate, the reformed crook.

Edwin Vail was adapted well to the hero's part. The other members of the company ably supported the principals.

Another actress of the first rank has joined the recruits o fthe "movies." Blanche Walsh, the American woman whose work in "The Woman in the Case," "The Kreutzer Sonata" and especially in "The Resurrection" made her famous, has completed her posing in the last named play, and the films will be presented at the Grand opera house this week, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

This will perhaps be the first opportunity Atlantians have had to compare the picture play with the "real thing." Miss Walsh presented "The Resurrection" at the Grand several years ago, and the Tolstoy drama was one of the remarkable events of the season. Those who saw her then will be interested in a reproduction of the play on the white curtain, this time a "play without words."

The Grand, which has been closed for the summer, will be opened for this engagement by special arrangement with Managers Jake Wells and Hugh Cordoza. It is perhaps the only theater in Atlanta large enough to permit the presentation of a long and expensive photo-play like "The Resurrection" at popular prices, and capacity audiences will be necessary to produce an actual profit, for the Tolstoy drama is given in its egirety, in four long reels of film. The full cast of eleven players, besides a ballet of skilled Russian dancers, take part in the production. The photo-play will open at 10 o'clock each morning and be repeated until 10:30 o'clock at night, practically a continuous performance.

COURT IN ATHENS.

The federal court is now in Athens, where it has a large number of cases to dispose of. Court opened Monday, Judge Newman and the officials leaving Atlanta Sunday night.

Atlanta Upholds Chief Beavers

The itching palm.

Judas Iscariot had it.

Poor Judas, learning too late the curse of the itching palm, threw away the money and killed himself in shame and sorrow.

Notwithstanding, itching palms are here today.

And again and again would they betray Christ, our Savior, and rear for Him a cross.

Their pay coming from the betrayal of girls matters not to them.

If they get their hire, they care not that their success would mean the dishonoring of motherhood, the blinding of babies, and the spreading of disease, insanity and death among innocent children and women.

These, they ignore with a sneering curse.
But you do not; you care and understand; you recall.

Annually seven hundred thousand dollars and more poured through the white slave market of Atlanta into the itching palm.

The lie of segregation so prospered seven houses that their reputed owners received forty-three thousand and seventy-four dollars in the form of rent every year, more than twice as much as the rental of thirty-three other houses scattered throughout the city.

Eight months have passed and the owners of the itching palms have become frantic.

For eight months the "unbreakable bank of the corrupt politician" has been hampered by the honesty of a man whose palms will not itch.

How much have the owners of the houses and the liquor dealers lost?

Eight months is two-thirds of a year; two-thirds of seven hundred thousand dollars is four hundred and sixty-six thousand, six hundred and sixty-six dollars and sixty-six cents.

How their palms do itch!

And they have despaired of corrupting the Chief.

They have to get rid of him, if they ever open again their market, with its unspeakable pimps and procurers plying their trade of debauching girls.

IS THIS CONNECTED WITH THE RECENT STUDIED EFFORT TO DISCREDIT THE CHIEF AND ATLANTA'S POLICE DEPARTMENT IN THE EYES OF THE WORLD?

Consider this before you answer.

Incorruptibility is not inefficiency.

And an unwillingness to violate one's oath—a refusal to let criminals live upon the shame of women, is no evidence that a man is incompetent to be Chief of Atlanta's Police Force.

Hence the plight of protected vice and its servants.

THEY CANNOT CORRUPT; HENCE, THEY SEEK TO RUIN WITH LIES.

Their itching palms know not how to labor honestly, though they are skilled in squeezing money from helpless fallen women, their "meal tickets."

Being hungry, they snarl and snap.

God pity them and open their eyes to the unutterable degradation!

The outside world is pointing to the fearless honesty of our Chief of Police and the efficient way in which he is handling the most difficult of all city problems.

And in this age of graft he will not be sacrificed to put into office a dishonest man, satisfactory to the owners of brothels and bars and their henchmen.

Never.

AND ATLANTA WILL REMEMBER FOR FUTURE RECKONING THOSE MEN, IN OR OUT OF OFFICE, WHO TRY TO HAMPER THE CHIEF AS HE DOES HIS DUTY.

Recall the itching palms of the servants of protected vice and be on your guard.

"A lie turned loose put Christ on the Cross." Nail their lies!

Note those who are trying by the most foul of all means, character assassination, to bring back upon Atlanta the disgrace of a traffic which demands for its existence the sacrifice of innocent girls.

For the day of accounting is coming.

Chief Beavers is battling for decency and health, the welfare of our families and your loved ones.

He does not fight alone. You are with him.

Thank God! You are awake and watching.

Market in New York Closed 2 to 8 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 27.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 1 to 2 points under scattered offerings, inspired by easier ruling of the late Liverpool cables, good weather and favorable private crop reports. Selling was not general and the market steadied up to a slight extent on covering and moderate demand.

Favorable weather and crop reports having failed to inspire any general selling, prices worked about five to ten points net higher. Houses with Liverpool connections were moderate sellers on the advance, but offerings were limited and scattering shorts seemed disposed to cover.

While the weekly weather report was considered favorable, on the average prices were 6 to 12 points higher during the early afternoon. It reported that the combined figures of the National Ginners' association made the condition 67.7 per cent compared with record private reports of 80 and 84 per cent. Realizing checked the advance, but rearrived were limited.

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 1 to 3 points. Cables were about as due, but the weather map was called very favorable and a private forecast put the condition of the crop on May 25 at 84 per cent of the normal. The market was quiet and steady all day, both offerings and the demand were small. First prices were the lowest. At the end of the first half hour of business the trading points were 1 to 3 points over yesterday's close.

The market had a very steady tone and a disposition to work higher during the entire morning, in spite of the forecast of continued fair weather in the belt and the lack of more of showers in the Carolinas the conditions most wanted and what was called a favorable weekly summary from the weather bureau. At noon the market showed a net gain of 4 points and at the highest the trading months were 7 to 8 points over yesterday's final quotations. At noon the market showed a net gain of 4 points.

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Tisdale-Dupree says: Favorable crop reports came from many quarters, and the cotton market declined, of course, on the weather. A bearish sentiment pressed over the rings and low price people discussed the outlook for declines in more or less confident terms. Some of the new crops was talked of as a sure thing; be as a probability. So far as I know, nothing is one lone bear, to as a possibility. All the while the bull faction kept quiet and seemed to feel the small of decrease to run its course. At the close underlying strength seemed to develop, and students of the market expressed the bliff that far future fluctuations would range within 20 points. The weather over Southern cotton was very favorable, temperatures were higher and on the face of things the crop seemed to be ahead of time. Reports received by cotton men on the fence, while admitting the presence of much room favorable climatic conditions, declined to believe it was time to rush the flood of favorable crop advices, coming right at the close of the week's trading. Private reports received of condition bulletin on June 2 is to be based, fraces some of its inspiration on the theory of an effort to make a relatively low condition that might have been reported on May 25 from the less favorable sections.

Man very favorable. Shows fair and warmer weather west of the Atlantic coast, warm in Atlantic and Tennessee; no rain except in Tennessee and parts of North Carolina, where it was too much.

Reports to the Journal of Commerce state that prospects for a cotton crop of approximately about normal in Tennessee acreage slightly increased, stands generally poor, rain and sun badly needed, but cultivation in general be-

Some exceptions. Tennessee acreage increased in North Carolina and Mississippi, warmer weather prospects much brighter since the rains. South Carolina condition very poor, below last year's average. Georgia's present condition shows an increase of nearly 10 points over last year. Weather needs sun.

Forecast: Southern—Tonight and Wednesday fair; not much change in temperature. Northern—Warmer on the coast.

Arkansas and West Texas—Tonight and Wednesday fair; warmer.

Oklahoma—Tonight fair, warmer; Wednesday fair.

East Texas—Tonight and Wednesday warmer; variable winds on the coast.

Cotton futures in New York were as follows: January, 11.06; May, 11.54; July, 11.62; August, 11.42; October, 11.16; December, 11.17.

10 a. m. Bids in New Orleans were: January, 11.09; May, 11.34; July, 12.03; August, 11.61; October, 11.21.

Warren, Bashford and Wilson buyers: Bloomfield, Parrott and Blondan sellers.

McFadden, Parrott and Blondan have been the large buyers today for sale. Bloomfield, Bashford, Finley and Hunter for Fenwood sale.

Market feels influence of continental buying; sidings well stocked and notwithstanding a fair Waterhouse cable, cotton quoted 2 points higher in Liverpool for the present. Think market will be lower if crop accounts continue favorable.

Blondan bought about 12,000 to 15,000 October and December sold to Bloomfield.

Blondan a big buyer of new crop for Fall. The long of new crop is Bloomfield. Bloomfield says that conditions were favorable, an inch of rainfall and cold weather due no damage.

Dow, Jones summary:

Governor Sulzer signs bill for appointment of commission to co-operate state banking interest of foreign capital expects to receive from Union Pacific and Southern Pacific new dissolution plan soon. Chicago Great Western files suit to regain new Railway was an inactivity. St. Louis and Southwestern says $500,000 is required to supplement trust notes. Erie telegraphers threaten a general walk-out if conferences over wage demands fail. Twenty-one more industrials declined 68. Twelve industrials declined 16.

While it was generally expected that the statements the supreme court failed to hand down decision in the Missouri Pacific case would have it had little effect. Bellow on all recessions the dividend payment suffered losses are a surprise. Announcement being $500,000 to $1,000,000. The copper issue should be favorites as there is a big scramble for the stock of the leading companies as the present selling price of the metal is low.

Rumors that Union Pacific-Southern Pacific plan struck a snag, but appeared to be of speculative origin. Pacific Mail is reported for a day or two.

Bonds are firm.

Canadian Pacific Investigation in Canadian Pacific. This has a tendency to unsettle the balance of the market.

Bonds are firm. Call for receiver for Frisco lines is now being presented to Judge Sanborn, of St. Louis.

Chicago Inter-Ocean says: Sentiment in the wheat trade was inclined to be bullish last night on the theory that the recent rains which put no crop have been discounted and that the market is in a position to respond to any good buying. It was noticeable that corn traders who have been bullish and waited for a break to replace contracts sold on the theory of tender changing their tactics because of the rest of the new crop as well as farmers' deliveries of old.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say: Wheat—New buying seems rather limited at the moment and shorts having covered during the recent rise, some recession in prices would seem reasonable. Corn—Stocks in sight so light there is practically no pressure to sell and the market is firm. Oats—With stocks in sight so light there is practically no pressure to sell and the market is firm, but we are inclined to believe that new outside buying will be required to further interest.

Oats—The country should sell freely on the present prices on the basis of present values which would have a tendency to check the decline before the forecast.

NO ROAD

No road for me, but just the open moor
Where the great winds and the wide skies allure
By day the striding sun, and then by night
The white stars marching up and down the height.

No road for me, but springy under foot,
The velvet grasses and the bracken shoot,
The kingcup's gold, the flush of wild briar bloom,
The tansy's tang, the balsam's keen perfume.

No road for me, but climbing crests that lead
Onward and upward like some noble deed
To far horizons looking out on life,

Whate'er the hour and whatsoe'er the tide
(Frost time or flower time) if it cheer or chide,
Ungyved, untrammelled, fetterless and free,

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

"Wait for me!" cried little Joe Otter to Billy Mink, but Billy Mink was in too much of a hurry, and just ran faster.

"Wait for me!" cried Jerry Muskrat to little Joe Otter, but little Joe was in too much of a hurry, and just ran faster.

"Wait for me!" cried Grandfather Frog to Jerry Muskrat, but Jerry was in too much of a hurry, and just walked faster.

"Wait for me!" cried Spotty the Turtle to Grandfather Frog, but Grandfather Frog was in too much of a hurry and just jumped faster.

So, running and walking and jumping and crawling, Billy Mink, Little Joe Otter, Jerry Muskrat, Grandfather Frog and Spotty the Turtle hurried up the Laughing Brook to find out why up in the blue, blue sky he can see a great deal. Indeed, Ol' Mistah Buzzard can see all that is going on below on the Green Meadows and in the Green Forest. His wings are very broad, and he can sail through the air very swiftly when he makes up his mind to. Now as he looked down he Little Joe Otter was selfish and wouldn't wait for Little Joe Otter, and Little Joe Otter was selfish and wouldn't wait for Grandfather Frog, and Grandfather Frog was selfish and wouldn't wait for Spotty the Turtle.

"Ah reckon Ah will hurry up right smart and find out what the trouble is mahself and then go back and Tell Brer Turtle it will save him a powerful lot of work, and it will serve Brer Mink right if Brer Turtle finds out what the trouble with the Laughing Brook is," said Ol' Mistah Buzzard, and shot far ahead over the Green Forest toward that part of it from which the Laughing Brook comes. In a few minutes he was as far ahead of Billy Mink as Billy was ahead of Spotty the Turtle.

For wings are swifter far than legs
On whatsoever purpose bent;
But doubly swift and tireless
Those wings on kindly deed intent.

And this is how it happens that Ol' Mistah Buzzard was the first to find out what it was that had stopped the laughing of the Laughing Brook and the smiling of the Smiling Pool, but he was so surprised when he did find out that he forgot all about going back to tell Spotty the Turtle. He forgot everything but his own great surprise, and he blinked his eyes a great many times to make sure that he wasn't dreaming. Then he sailed around and around in circles, looking down among the trees of the Green Forest and saying over and over to himself:

"Did yo' ever? No, I never! Did yo' ever? No, I never!"

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

Miss MEG sat at her window sewing. She had just begun her nineteenth patchwork block and it took twenty to make a quilt.

"But it will be a silk quilt when it is done, even if it is in patches," Miss Meg said aloud to the Man-on-the-Wall.

The Man-on-the-Wall did not reply or even deign to look interested. He lived in a huge tarnished gilt frame and had been living in that same frame when Miss Meg's father found him at an obscure curio shop, bought him and brought him home. He had been in that same place on the wall when Miss Meg was born, and he looked as if he might still be there when she died. He was, indeed, the one stable, unchanging fact in her life, the one agreeable truth that she knew she should wake up to each morning. Other things, money, parents, friends, had gone, but the Man-on-the-Wall remained invariable.

In reality the Man-on-the-Wall was only a portrait done in oils, and done extremely well, too, by an artist who had evidently understood his subject. The painting was fully sixty years old, but the man himself was only about thirty. He had an olive skin touched on the rather high cheek bones with carmine, dark, piercing eyes, thick curling black hair combed straight up from his forehead in the old mode. He was in truth so beautiful to see, in spite of his old-fashioned pointed collar and stock, that you wondered how he had ever lived like other people whose eyes, mouths, ears, and nose are more serviceable organs without being in any degree ornamental.

Miss Meg had fallen in love with the Man-on-the-Wall when she was about thirteen and she had never fallen out again. He had secretly stood to her ever since for all things that a man and lover should be. He was, in short, her ideal. And because of him she was living this very day.

Miss Meg being of that slip shod type of prettiness which only grows a little paler and more fragrant with advancing years, had had a lover and spurned him. His name was Jo eph Jones and as of her he had never married. He had, however, not let his disappointment utterly spoil his life, for he has grown rich. He lived in a boarding house and every day walked to his office past Miss Meg's door. Sometimes she glanced up as she sat sewing and nodded to him while he lifted his hat gravely. This exchange of greetings always set her heart a-flutter, for no woman is ever indifferent to a lover. The very fact that he is a lover, even though she despises him, lends him interest in her eyes. But after glancing at the matter-of-fact, most ordinary, and business-like appearing Joseph, Miss Meg would lift her eyes to the Man-on-the-Wall and sigh.

In her youth she had often fancied that suddenly he might slip out of his frame into reality. Maturer wisdom had taught her that she need expect nothing like this. Yet he had dominated Miss Meg's simple life to such an extent that she could not marry, least of all a commonplace, commonly named person like Joseph Jones.

Her friends told her that she was simply adding to the mistake she had always made by not taking Joe when he thought so much of her. Some of her relatives, indeed, went so far as to quarrel with her over the matter. It was absurd for her to live alone in that old house when she might have company. None of these people, however, knew Miss Meg's real reason for not marrying Joseph.

Neither did Joseph know. But he suspected that some love stood between him and Miss Meg. And the thought saddened him exceedingly.

"I must have in all," Miss Meg said now, to the Man-on-the-Wall, "seventeen silk patchwork quilts. And I shall neevr use them in this world. It's selfish to keep them. I suppose I ought really to put one in the next missionary barrel. But I can't bring myself to do it. I've grown so attached to them, Ferdinand"—she called the man on the wall Ferdinand—"because I have pieced every one in your company."

The Man-on-the-Wall did not smile or nod. Miss Meg sighed again. She wished he could sometimes answer back or at least act as if he listened.

At that instant the doorbell rang a startling peal. Miss Meg scraped her work out of her lap, untied her apron and took it off, patted her hair, straightened her collar and went all a-flutter to the door.

There stood a most fashionable little lady, all done up in brown fur and velvet, who looked at Miss Meg with a saucy pair of bright black eyes.

"I want to see Miss Merrithew," she began.

"I am Miss Merrithew," Miss Meg informed her.

"Indeed!" There was a note of delight in the fresh voice. "I am Miss Curtis, from New York. I am visiting Mrs. March, and she sent me here. She would have come, too, only she's down with a sick headache. She said you had the most wonderful collection of silk patchwork quilts in the world. Now, I'm very much interested in patchwork quilts. I'd like to see yours—if I may?"

The breathless question at the end met a Miss Meg smile. "Of course you may. Step in, Miss Curtis." Miss Meg swung open the parlor door. "I guess you'll find this room comfortably warm. Take a chair. Then, if you'll excuse me, I'll just run up and bring down the quilts."

Miss Meg had to make several trips up and down stairs, but she was as light on her feet as a squirrel. The exertion merely gave her a flush which deepened at the city girl's praise of her work. The parlor fairly radiated sheen and color from the spread out quilts.

"And there's one more," Miss Meg said, finally. "I'm just finishing it. If you'll step into the roxt room where it is."

The girl followed her out. Miss Meg was carefully unfolding her latest treasure when she heard the girl give a little cry. She looked around in surprise. The girl was standing before the portrait staring at it with all her black eyes.

"Oh, Miss Merrithew," she gasped, "where did you ever get this?"

Miss Meg told her with dignity. She felt as if the girl was taking a liberty with the Man-on-the-Wall.

"I believe—I feel sure it's the lost picture," the girl said. "And if it is, it's the picture of my grandfather. It was stolen a good many years ago. Mother has often told me about it. And we've never been able to get any trace of it. Oh, Miss Merrithew, if you would just take it down and let me look at the back of it? Grandfather's portrait had his initials, 'S. E. T.,' and the number '27' in one corner."

Miss Meg, with a curious sinking of heart, set a chair, climbed upon it, and handed down the picture. The girl turned its back to the wall. There were the initials and the number as she had said.

"27" she murmured. "The '27' stands for his age at the time this portrait was painted. His first wife's brother painted it. He was quite an artist. Grandfather had three wives and eleven children. My grandmother was his third wife. He was eighty when he died and I remember him perfectly. He always walked with his hands crossed on his back and he smoked a great deal. And he had some curious notions. One was —but I'm trying you with so much narration, dear Miss Merrithew. You look pale."

"Oh, my, no!" faltered Miss Meg. "It's all very interesting. You see, I never knew my grandfather—that he was like that. He always seemed so different. But, of course, you know. And—and you are welcome to him—the picture, I mean."

"Oh, Miss Merrithew, how generous you are! Of course, I yearn to have the portrait, but I shall pay you anything you ask. As a piece of art, really, you know, it is quite valuable."

"Nevertheless, I couldn't take a cent for him—it, I mean," said Miss Meg firmly. "I—I—under the circumstances, I shall be very glad to get rid of him."

"Then," said the girl, putting an arm about Miss Meg tenderly, "maybe, since you are so nice and kind and generous, dear Miss Merrithew, you'll grant another desire of my heart and let me buy one of your beautiful quilts."

In the end Miss Meg sold her four quilts. The girl would name her own price—the New York price, she said—for such work, and laughed when Miss Meg demurred at her extravagance. When she went away she carried the picture, but left the quilts to be called for the following day.

Miss Meg stood at the window watching the brown figure carrying the huge parcel down the street. The "man on the wall" was gone, and there was only a faded spot on the wallpaper to tell he had ever been there. Yes, there was also an ache of distinction in Miss Meg's heart. Her romantic idol—the ideal of her girlhood—was shattered by that awful name which had been Ferdinand's real one and the vision of three wives and eleven children!

As she stood thus disconsolate, Joseph Jones came along. And all at once he had a different look to Miss Meg. She saw in him the man she had waited all her life for. She tapped on the window. He heard. A happy change came over his face and he darted toward her front door.

As Miss Meg went to open it she remembered the roll of bills in her hand.

How to Restore Youthful Color of Your Hair.

There is no longer any need of being ashamed of gray or faded hair and feeling that you look older than you really are.

Science has found a simple and easy way to quickly restore the natural color of the hair. Any one can use the Queen Gray Hair Restorer, a liquid preparation that gives any desired shade from the one package, leaving the hair soft and fluffy and making a lasting color and is not sticky and does not ruff off.

The Queen Gray Hair Restorer does its work so quickly and easily that it is used and sold by the best hair dressers. But one application is enough to restore the natural color of your hair. There are two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Jacobs' Pharmacy and leading drug and department stores throughout the country. (Advt.)

The Doctor's Answers On Health and Beauty Questions

By DR. LEWIS BAKER.

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg. College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be user in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Distress" writes: "My hair is so oily and straggling and wish you could tell me something to make it soft and fluffy. It makes me positively homely. I also have a great deal of dandruff."

Answer: Many women would be more beautiful if they had soft, fluffy hair. I can tell you a very simple remedy, one that will make your hair soft and fluffy. It will cure dandruff, itching scalp and baldness and falling hair. Ask your druggist for a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow mingol and use according to direction, and you will be surprised to note the difference in your hair.

"Fred W." writes: "I suffer with headache, indigestion, nervous debility and am also thin almost to the danger point. What can be done for me."

Answer: You can very readily overcome these difficulties by using three-grain hypocnuclane tablets. They are put up in sealed cartons with full directions. These are highly recommended by physicians and if used according to directions you will soon be rid of headache, your indigestion will be gone and you will gain from 10 to 20 pounds. These tablets should be taken regularly for several months, and you can depend on gaining flesh.

"Lee" writes: "I have tried so many remedies for rheumatism that I am almost afraid to try and more, but if you can tell me a sure cure I will try it."

Answer: Do not be disheartened because you have not been able to find something that would cure your rheumatism for you can be cured if you will take what I tell you. Get from the drug store: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate 4 drams; wine of colchicum, essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; and syrup sarsaparilla, 8 oz. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed.

"Fern" writes: "I have suffered with a bad cough for some time and I am also weak and tired most of the time, which I think is due to the severe coughing. Can you give me a remedy?"

Answer: Yes, your weakness is due to the coughing, but you can be cured by using the following: Get a 2½ oz. package of essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle, then take a teaspoonful every hour or two until the cough is cured. This makes a full pint of the very best and safest cough syrup. If your druggist does not have mentho-laxene have him order it for you of the wholesale firms.

Doctor: What can I take for a bad case of indigestion? I have suffered with it for many years and nothing I take helps at all. I am also bothered with constipation."

Answer: You should not neglect indigestion and constipation as it leads to more serious trouble, very frequently appendicitis is caused by this neglect. Begin at once and take tablets tripepsine. These are packed in sealed cartons with full directions for taking.

"Laura S." writes: "I am so tired and nervous all the time that I can scarcely drag one foot after the other. It is very hard for me as I have to work. My appetite is also very poor."

Answer: What you need is a good tonic restorative treatment. Take the tonic prescribed below and you will soon be strong and healthy and will not have that tired feeling. Your work will become a pleasure to you. Syrup of hypophosphites comp. 8 oz., tincture cadomene, 1 oz., mix, and take a teaspoonful before each meal. This should be continued for several weeks until you feel perfectly strong.

Mrs. W. W. C. asks: "Can I safely take off 40 pounds of fat? I weigh 180 pounds; too much for my height."

Answer: You can by taking, as per the directions which accompany, 5-grain arbuline tablets, put up in sealed cases and sold by well-stocked druggists. They are safe for any fleshy person to take.

"Ana R." writes: "I have taken medicine from several doctors for liver and kidney trouble and constipation, but it does not seem to help me at all. My skin is sallow. I have constant headaches, and dizzy spells. What shall I do?"

Answer: The best remedy that I know for your trouble is three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets). These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions. Most of the remedies only relieve, but if you take the sulpherb tablets regularly for a few weeks you will be cured. This will purify the blood and your skin will lose that sallow look.

"Busy Mother"—Bedwetting can be easily cured in children by giving them the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 3 ozs. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water an hour before each meal.

Doctor: "I have a very bad case of catarrh of the head and my stomach, bowels and blood are affected. I suffer greatly and would like a cure."

Ans. G.—Local treatment should be used as follows: Get 2 ozs. of antiseptic Vilane powder. Use a half teaspoonful to a pint of warm water; snuff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils two or three times a day. Make a catarrh salve by adding a level teaspoonful of Vilane powder with one ounce of vaseline or lard and apply to the nostrils as far up as possible. Also take a teaspoonful four times daily of the following: Syrup sarsaparilla comp. 4 ozs.; comp fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; fluid ext. buchu, 1 oz. Mix and shake well.—(Advt.)

COLLEGE WOMEN GIVE LUNCHEON

GAINESVILLE, Ga.—A pleasant incident in the Brenau commencement festivities was the luncheon given Monday to the class of 1903 which is holding its decennial reunion at the college.

The guests included the class members and those of the teachers who were in the college at the time the girls were.

Beautiful decorations made the table very attractive. Fragrant clusters of Mareschal Niel roses and ferns were disposed at intervals on the table, the Mareschal Niel being the class flower, and green and gold the class colors.

Dr. H. J. Pearce, president of the college, acted as toastmaster. Toasts were given to "The Faculty," "The Past Ten Years," "Our Absent Ones," "Our College Days" and "Our Alma Mater."

Mrs. Eliza Bright Davison, Miss Ruth Baker, Mrs. Anna McConnell Riley, Miss Bonnie Brock and Miss Daisy Wilson spoke.

Ruth Baker, Owensboro, Ky.
Gertie Blalock, Jonesboro, Ga.
Nellie Bright, Mrs. Edmund Wroe, Flemingsburg, Ky.

Luncheon to Brides-Elect

Mrs. Samuel Candler Dobbs was hostess at luncheon Tuesday at 1 o'clock at her home in Inman Park in compliment to Miss Lina Andrews and Miss Ollie Fewell, who are brides-elect.

A French basket holding an artistic arrangement of pink rosebuds and maiden hair ferns, formed the center of the table. Pink tapers were shaded with dresden shades wreathed with rosebuds. The place cards were painted with sprays of the lovely flowers, and the souvenirs for the guests of honor were corsage bouquets of pink roses.

Mrs. Dobbs' guests included Miss Lina Andrews, Miss Ollie Fewell, Miss Mildred Harris, Miss Stockard, Miss Lucile Goodrich, Miss Mary Goodrich, Miss Martha Smith, Miss Lois Patillo, Miss Eula Hancock, Miss Mildred Dobbs, Miss Pauline Coulter, Miss Lucile Dennis, Miss Annie Rauschenberg, Miss Mazie Rauschenberg, Mrs. William Candler, Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Austin.

Mrs. Dargan's Luncheon In Honor Mrs. Wood

Mrs. Milton Dargan entertained at luncheon today at the Driving club in honor of Mrs. C. A. Wood, who will leave this evening for Toxaway.

Mrs. Dargan received her guests wearin a gown of wistaria colored Canton crepe and a hat of black maline trimmed with Paradise aigrette.

To Miss Harrison

Mrs. H. B. Odell was hostess this morning at a lovely luncheon at which a pretty bride-elect was the honor guest, Miss Courtenay Harrison, whose marriage to Mr. Loring Raoul will be a June event.

Covers were laid for ten, the table having a charming decoration in pink sweet peas, the same color repeated in the shades which tipped the candles burning in silver candlesticks and in the minor details of the beautifully appointed table.

Mrs. Odell received her guests wearing a gown of blue chiffon taffeta.

Invited to meet the honor guest were Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison, Miss Frances Connally, Miss Genie Hood, of Cuthbert, Mrs. Benjamin Tye, Mrs. William Schroder, Mrs. Roy Collier, Mrs. Michael Hoke and Mrs. John W. Akin.

Before and After Marriage

Advice Given Mother in Regard to Young Daughter, Proves Valuable to Daughter Even After Marriage.

Pollock, Tex.—"When I was a girl, about 14 years of age," writes Mrs. Winnie Delaney, of this town, "I was in awfully bad health. I tried different treatments, but they did me no good.

A friend advised my mother to give me Cardui, the woman's tonic. She gave me one bottle, and it straightened me out all right.

I did not have any more trouble until after I was married. I had several bad spells then, but I began taking Cardui again, and my health started to improving right away.

I can safely recommend Cardui to all women sufferers, as I think it is the greatest woman's medicine on earth.

You may publish this letter if you wish."

Cardui is good for young girls, as well as older women, because it contains pure, harmless, vegetable ingredients, which act gently, yet surely, on the delicate womanly organs. It is a tonic prepared exclusively for women.

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been in widely extended use, by women of all ages, and has given entire satisfaction, as a remedy for rebuilding womanly health and strength.

You can rely on Cardui. It will do for you, what it has done for thousands of others. It will help you.

Pels Fielding Bit Off Color In First Game

Dent Came Back Good and Strong and Got Credit for Victory—Welchonce Hit Couple of Timely Raps

Elliott Dent demonstrated in Monday's game against New Orleans, which Atlanta won 8 to 2, that he has the right sort of stuff to make a good hurler and he is sure to be heard from. In his first workout he weakened in the seventh inning, due to having been on the bench all season, but Monday he went through the entire fray in fairly good order. He gave up ten hits, but they were widely scattered and this is what counts.

Harry Welchonce had a most busy day both afield and at the bat. In the field he grabbed off six putouts, many being of the hardest kind, and at the plate he rapped out a single and triple, his single scoring one run and his triple counting for two.

Rebel Williams, the former Cracker shortstop but now a Pelican third sacker, was certainly around with the ball during the progress of the game. He made four hits in as many times up. Each hit went to left field and this kind of one field smashing should be easy to stop.

Tommy Long made one of the neatest of neat throws in the first inning when he chased in and grabbed Spencer's hit and tossed out Atz at home. The throw was perfect.

Wallace Smith made a grand stop of Spencer's hard hit between short and third in the third round. He chased over in front of the short field and grabbed the ball in time for an out at first.

Whitey Alperman was all around picking up the hardest kind of raps around his territory. His pickup and quick throw of Spencer's hard hit in the sixth was the best fielding stunt of the game.

Pitcher Dent reached first every time he came to the bat. The first trip up he hit a hard one which Atz juggled and allowed Agler to score and Dent to reach first. On his second trip he was safe on a fielder's choice and the next two times he pounded safely, his average for the day being .500.

Harry Welchonce certainly smashed out a hit in the eighth. With two on the bags and two gone, Harry poled one against the sign boards in right center. Had it been in the direction of the ball it would easily have won the fifty for the popular center gardener.

Johnny Clancy worked overtime for a hit and in the ninth round he finally counted. Every time up this youngster hit it a mile a minute, but not until he hit a hot one directly at Dent in the ninth did he make the first sack.

In the fourth round, with Williams on first, Joe Agler and Joe Dunn pulled a neat play to catch Williams off first, and but for the peculiar circumstances would have had the man a mile. As it happened Snedecor was preparing to bunt and Agler was coming in for the ball. When the batter missed the bunt and Agler was coming in so fast that he could not get back to first in time to nail the runner, who was way off the bag. The throw to Dunn was perfect.

TODAY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 27.—Despite a soaking rain during the night, indications late today were that the park would not be too muddy for today's Memphis-Nashville game, but weather is cold and cloudy. If the game is played Williams will probably pitch for Nashville and Gibson catch. For Memphis, Newton and Snell will be the battery.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 27.—Foxen and E. Brown will be matched against each other in the second contest between Birmingham and Montgomery this afternoon. The snappy pitching of Montgomery in the first game will attract many fans, besides this is ladies' day.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 27.—The second game of the Mobile and Chattanooga series will be played here this afternoon. The weather is cloudy and threatening. Batteries: Chattanooga, Coveleskie and Street; Mobile, Campbell and Schmidt.

Sets New Record For Amateur Athlete

CHICAGO, May 27.—Cory, the University High school (Chicago) athlete, made a world's interscholastic record of 24 2-5 seconds, while the best time ever made in the event by a preparatory school athlete, according to the American Athletic union manual, is 25 seconds.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

The St. Louis Browns won out in the ninth inning when Brief, batting for Maisel, rolled a slow one to Rush and beat it out for a safety, Austin counting the winning tally in the melee. The bases were running over at the time. Two of the four counters secured by the Browns were the result of clean homers off Dauss and Hall by Austin and Johnston. Cobb was credited with four times at bat, and rapped safely just once out of the four tries. He also snitched a peg off Catcher Alexander.

The Athletics and Senators each grabbed one out of the double bill in the Quaker City, pitcher Houck holding the Griffith crew to three bingles in the first fray and not a single counter during the nine rounds. Catcher Lapp batted ten even thousand, two hits out of as many trips to the platter. Walter Johnson held the Mack men to two hits during the seven innings that he worked, and the Senators got away with the second contest in good style, the final count being 9 to 2. Besides his good work on the mound, the Washington flinger caught one of Pennock's fast ones and sent it to a far corner for the circuit.

The Stallings Braves seemed in a fair way to cop from the Giants, when James took a flight in the fourth round and was hit for nine safeties, scoring the seven tallies that won the fray for the Giants. Rudolph, who succeeded him, held the opposition to two singles in the remaining five innings. The Braves' two runs were the result of a screaming double in the third by Lord with two on.

Bedient, the Red Sox hurler, won a pitchers' battle from McConnell, and the Yanks lost a 2 to 1 game. The world's champions won the contest on singles by Yerkes and Speaker in the fourth, a neat steal by Speaker, an error by Derrick, and Janvrin's sacrifice fly, which sent Yerkes across the tin, and Speaker counted a moment later.

A three-run lead was not enough for Brooklyn to beat Philadelphia yesterday, the league leaders coming from behind in the eighth with the tieing run and winning out in the eleventh by an 8 to 7 score. In the eleventh three hits and as many errors gave Philadelphia the four runs which sewed up the game.

Rudolfo Wins Feature Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 27.—Rudolfo, a four-year-old colt, well ridden by Jockey Loftus, won the Kentucky Handicap, the richest American turf event, at Douglas park, and set a new track record of 2:05 4-5 for the mile and a quarter. Officially the track was pronounced "good," but the track record was equalled once and broken three times in the six races of the opening program of the meeting. Ten Point tired rapidly in the last furlong and had to be ridden out to get second place by half a length from Any Port, which showed remarkable speed in the last quarter mile.

The eleven starters in the handicap included some of the crack three-year-olds that have shown class at spring meetings, but the race went to an older horse and gained a point for those who contend a really good horse is at its best as a four-year-old. Rudolfo won the race from a three-year-old, Ten Point, after the latter had led for most of the distance. Away badly, Loftus forced the son of Sir Huon, of Batts-Satoma, into second place at the three-quarters. With Gowell third, this position was maintained until in the stretch, when the three-year-old faltered and Rudolfo, under urging, forged to the front to win by a length. Any Port, which showed remarkable speed in the last quarter mile.

Pelky Facing Police Charge

CALGARY, May 27.—A coroner's jury last night exonerated Pelkey, the prize fighter, whose blow killed McCarty in the prize ring here Saturday.

Despite the verdict of the jury Pelkey again was placed under arrest by the mounted police at midnight. The unexpected action caused considerable speculation as to the next move to be taken by the authorities.

Referee Ed Smith, Tommy Burns, William McCarney, McCarty's manager, together with a dozen attendants and newspaper men, were cited as witnesses at the hearing.

The course of investigation planned was somewhat changed as a result of the discovery that McCarty's death was due to a blow to the jaw which dislocated the neck and not to a blow of the heart. Dr. H. H. Moshier, who conducted the autopsy, testifying said a blow on the edge of the right jaw, the dislocation of the fourth cervical, caused death.

It developed that eight ounce gloves instead of the customary five ounce gloves were used by the fighters in Saturday's tragic fray. This became known when members of the northwest mounted police seized the gloves for evidence to be presented to the coroner's jury at the trial.

McCarty and Pelkey had agreed to use the lesser weight gloves, and, it is said, when the heavier ones were brought into the ring with the excuse that the five-ounce gloves unintentionally had been left in Calgary, which is five miles from the scene of the fight, McCarty's manager objected to their use until McCarty overruled him.

PRICE WORKS FOR ATLANTA

Gilbert Price and Finis Wilson, two southpaws, will most likely be the hurlers in the second game between Pelicans and Crackers. Joe Dunn and Jack Adams will do the backing up work.

Cracker hitters are a trifle weak against Cracker hitters are a trifle weak against southpaws and for this reason has decided to send back a southpaw in the Tuesday game. Rube Evans fared very well in the game he worked Monday, errors at critical times proving the undoing of the Pels.

Graham Goes To Make Room For Chapman

New Catcher Expected During Day—Pat Graham Should Certainly Be Claimed by Some Southern League Club

At 11 o'clock Tuesday morning Catcher Chapman, recently purchased from Cincinnati, had not reached Atlanta, but was expected to be on hand during the early afternoon. With his arrival Catcher Pat Graham will be turned adrift, Dunn and Chapman being the two regular catchers for the year.

In the Western league last season Chapman did fair work, but just what success he will meet with in this fast circuit is problematical. He may prove a real star and then again he may not be able to keep the pace.

The going of Pat Graham is to be regretted. This is a boy who has plenty of sense, a crack arm and can hit with the best receivers in the circuit. He is young and improving all the time and no matter who picks him up, a mighty good man will be landed.

It seems that Pat got in bad with Manager Smith in Saturday's game when he allowed one or two runners to steal second base. This caused the manager to oust him from the game and a wordy war was the result. Just what passed between the two no one has found out, yet both appear well satisfied with the culmination of the affair.

It is more than probable that Pat will be picked up by some team in the Southern league. He is far above the caliber of some who are now doing backstop duty for some of the stronger clubs of the circuit and his addition will fill in most acceptably. If he is not kept in this league he is sure to be grabbed by some good club and it is the wish of thousands of local fans that he make good, as he doubtless will.

Chattanooga Golfers

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 27.—Chattanooga golfers are now ready for the southern golf tournament and expect to make a strong showing at medal, match and team play. Probably a dozen golfers will be entered when play is begun at Alabama's capital. Garner Watkins, Scott Probasco, Warren Dewees, Ernest Martin, Ted Coy and several other young players are showing great form at present. Great things are expected of Watkins following his consistent play in recent meets, and the youngster is expected to startle the natives in the big tourney.

Next Tourney At Chattanooga

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 27.—Mrs. E. W. Daley, of Nashville, Tenn., with a card of 102, won low score honors in the qualifying round for the woman's golf championship of the south played over the links of the Memphis Country club. The team trophy also went to Nashville, Mrs. Daley, Miss Jeannette Acklen and Mrs. T. H. Seymour, of that city, turning in the lowest scores, 328. Sixteen of the forty players turned in scores under 130 and qualified for the championship flight and first round of match play; ten in the second flight and fourteen in the third.

At a business meeting of the Women's Southern Golf association, which directs the contests, Mrs. J. D. Varnell, Knoxville, Tenn., was elected president; Miss Anne Watkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., vice president, and Mrs. K. G. Duffield, Memphis, Tenn., was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Chattanooga was selected as the place of holding the 1914 tournament.

Mrs. F. G. Jones, Memphis, the present title holder, had the second lowest score, 107. Miss Acklen, 108, was third. In team play Memphis was second and Birmingham third.

Motordrome to Open June 6; After Records

Great Speed Is to Be Attained on the High-Banked Stadium That Has Just Been Built by Jack Prince

Jack Prince will open his motordrome Friday night, June 6. It was not until today that the world-famous builder of automobile and motorcycle tracks came to his final decision. But with his race track virtually completed and with the grandstand seats which will top the quarter-mile bowl well started, Jack decided that nothing short of a ten days' rain could head him now, and definitely settled on a date.

And when Jack announces it, it goes. For J. Prince knows more about building board tracks than anybody else in the world—than everybody else rolled together, in fact—for he is the one builder of board motordromes on the globe. In fact, Jack invented them, perfected them and is now building a most pretentious circuit. Before the Atlanta track is completed work will begin on one in Birmingham. Before that is done the framework for a third will be rising in Nashville. Before that is completed Memphis will be the scene of another track building operation. Within two months Jack Prince will have a four-track circuit in Dixie that will be an exact duplicate of his circuit on the Pacific coast.

Around this circuit will travel all summer the best band of picked motorcycle riders that the world has ever produced. With four tracks to interest them, the best talent on earth can be secured and they will be guaranteed four matches a week. Already Jack Prince has the pick of the motorcycle track riders of the world and more coming. They will make their first southern debut one week from Friday. Already they are practicing daily on the quarter-mile board track.

And already the crowds are gravitating to the track. The fact that many of the baseball cars are routed past the new track is having its advertising effect. Men who go by on the cars one day stop off the next to see what Jack Prince has to offer. And having once seen, they tell their friends and more come. Last Sunday the average attendance at the track all day was well up in the thousands.

Next Sunday, just to show Atlantans what he has to offer in the way of a track, Jack Prince is planning a band concert. Of course, there will be no riding or anything of that sort. But there will be a corking good band on the job, plenty of comfortable seats and a good chance to see the latest thing in motorcycle-racing tracks, a quarter of a mile oval, made of boards and banked like a washtub. Just to see it in motorcycle-racing tracks, a quarter of a mile oval, made of boards and banked like a washtub. Just to see it in motion will be a spectacle and the races will be. Jack Prince expects 10,000 people on Sunday and considering that Atlantians are enthusiastic about anything brand new, he is not likely to be disappointed.

SAY, LITTLE ONE HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO TAKE IN A SHOW AND HAVE A LITTLE SUPPER AFTER?
OH GREAT!
I SAY, HANK, I'VE FOUND THE MISSING HEIRESS— YEP! WE'VE BEEN TO THE SHOW AND WE'RE HAVING SUP. NOW— I'LL SEE YOU WHEN I GET THE $5000
DO YOU KNOW, I WAS THINKING WHILE YOU WERE OUT THAT YOU'VE BEEN SO GOOD TO ME I'M GOING TO TELL YOU THE TRUTH ABOUT MYSELF—
YOU CAN TRUST ME, LITTLE GIRL—
WELL— THAT'S ALL A BLUFF I GAVE THE GIRLS ABOUT BEING AN HEIRESS—OOF!

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

BREAKING IT TO BROOKLYN GENTLY.

All things good must reach an end;
Mark the motto well, my friend;
Life and Love run but their day;
Fame and glory drift away;
Friendship, power, wealth and name
Fade as fades the feeble game;
Springtime and the summer rose—
Autumn and the winter snows—
All must and, wherefore we speak—
So, alas, the Winning streak.

All things good must reach an end;
Mark the vanished Age's trend;
Caesar lost no games to Gaul,
Yet his Bush league woes his fall;
Many games Nap Bonaparte
Chisled off upon the chart,
Yet there came a day when he Hit below Two-forty-three;
All must pass—the strong—the weak—
So, alas! the Winning Streak.

Where the "glory that was Greece"?
Class D and a dub's release;
Where the "grandeur that was Rome"?
Blocked off thirty feet from home;
Hannibal, whose keen intrigue
Wrecked the ancient Roman League?
Where the Phalanx and the plays
Of old Alexander's days?
Brooklyn, we shall say no more—
You have read it in the score.

Mr. Murphy of the Cubs now has exactly one additional move left—which is to forbid any newspaper making mention of his ball club in anyway. It will be a soporific blow, with the undaunted courage and an iron will we for one shall try to accommodate him after the edict is out.

AS FOR THE DOPE.

The Yanks, stampeded and humbled in the East, obtained a new start in the West and worked their way into the Club Standings again. The Athletics, joy-riding through the East almost without a pause, were hauled up with a taut jerk parading through the West.

From which you can deduce any opinion you care to in regard to the stability of the ancient and honorable dope.

McGRAW-CLARKE WORRY.

Ordinarily John J. McGraw and Fred Clarke of the Giant-Pirate combination would not bother to any great extent over the Philly uplift. But both are wise to enough that a ball club fortified with the pitching guns this team carries is not to be despised as any light contender. Later on they may crack and all that bally sort of thing, and then again they may not.

But with shooting calibre of the Seaton-Alexander-Rixey-Chalmers brand around there is sufficient defensive strength to protest any abnormal lead against disaster.

Walter Johnson, losing a battle at last, proves that he is a human being.

Johnson had won when Steen stopped him. He has a long jaunt for the consecutive win record now, being a matter of 19 games away. There is no truth in the wild rumor that Rube Marquard came near shooting himself Thursday night when he heard that the Senatorial star had been suppressed and dismantled.

They think a lot of Bill Klem over in Brooklyn—almost as much as they esteem the bubonic plague.

No wonder owner Murphy is turning a mottled blue around the gills. He is wise enough to know that home fans are inclined to forget with a winning team around, but they begin to remember certain past incidents when defeat stalks out the trail. And remembering, they are not quite so likely to be cheerful about it—or to come back for more of the same.

AMERICAN GOLFERS LOSERS IN BIG ENGLISH TOURNEY

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 27.—In the first round of the golf tournament for the amateur championship of the world, played here, the only American who won his match was W. Heinrich Schmidt, of Worcester, Mass. He defeated D. Stoner Crowther, a strong English player, by 4 up and 3 to play.

Schmidt will play against Captain Bruns, of the North Devon club.

Campbell D. White, of San Francisco, and Harold Weber, of Toledo, who drew byes in the first round, will meet Carmichael Dickson, of Monefieth, and Shepherd, of Henley, both ordinary players, against whom the Americans have thought capable of scoring.

Findlay S. Douglas, C. W. Inslee and Frederick Roosevelt Scovell, the other American players competing, were beaten, while Canada was eliminated when Davey Martin, of Victoria, was beaten by Willie Greig 5 up and 4 to play, and Jackson Walton, of Edmonton, lost to Lester Stevens, of the Royal Clique Porte club, 6 up and 5 to play.

France also was cleared from the entry list by the defeat of Jerome Leblanc, the only Frenchman playing.

The match of the day was between the youngster Edgarton Pegler, and the veteran, John Ball, the amateur champion. Ball, in spite of the fact that he was crippled by a recent accident, fought gamely and lost by a putt on the last green.

Brannigan Wins

MILWAUKEE, May 27.—Patsy Brannigan, of Pittsburg, defeated Matty McGhe in a fast ten-round bout here last night. They are lightweights.

DAWSON TO DRIVE CAR

(By Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—Joe Dawson, who won the 500-mile sweepstake race here last year, probably will drive a machine in the third annual automobile race Memorial day, it was announced today. The contest board of the American Automobile association has refused to license the inventor of one of the cars to drive in the race on the ground that he lacked experience. Dawson, it was said, would steer his machine.

The elimination trials will start this morning and continue until 6 o'clock Thursday night. Each car must do seventy-five miles an hour and come within certain technical requirements in various dimensions.

Referee A. S. Purdington, of New York, who will have charge of the race, arrived last night and will direct the preliminary contests. Tonight the drivers will be instructed in the rules governing the event.

Scouts Watch Work Of a College Star

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 27.—Scouts from three big league teams have been in Bloomington recently watching the work of Carl H. Schultze Indiana University's southpaw, who is considered by local fans the premier pitcher of the conference colleges. Schultze, however, is a junior at the university, and says he will not consider professional ball until after he had completed his course.

Schultze has an enviable record for a college pitcher. Out of nine games, seven being conference contests, he has lost only two. In each of the games he has had from ten to fifteen strikeouts to his credit, and in two of the games he held his opponents to two hits. His opponents have averaged only six hits for the nine contests. He is also good at bat, avaraging .285 for the season.

FARGO, N. D., May 27.—Mrs. Luther McCarty, widow of the late prize fighter, may receive $65,000 the amount of the fortune left by her husband.

Mrs. McCarty received a telegram yesterday from attorneys in Chicago saying that her husband's estate would amount to about $65,000 and that she would be able to claim the money if action were taken at once. Mrs. McCarty conferred with an attorney, who later left for Chicago.

ENGLISH POLO PONIES BEST THAT WERE EVER ASSEMBLED

NEW YORK, May 27.—The English polo ponies for the international matches at Meadow Brook, L. I., next month, were taken to Piping Rock, where the Englishmen are to put on the finishing touches of their training.

There will, it is said, be no question about any inferiority in ponies on the English side this time. According to an English authority the combined public spirit and judgment of the Duke of Westminister, Mr. Freake, Mr. Buckmaster and Captain Miller have assembled such a colection of ponies as has never been seen before.

It took England two years to get together the string of ponies for the Meadow Brook matches. In the process of selection many ponies passed through the duke of Westminister's stables and were found wanting. There is said to be a strong family likeness running through the ponies that have arrived here. All in common have the fine forehead, the depth of girt, the power over the back and loins which give a pony the ability to turn and balance, so necessary in the modern game.

"The American team now practicing," writes a British army polo player in Country Life of London, "have the choice of the pick of the ponies in that country, but I am sure that if they best us it will be because they are better players and not because they own and ride faster, quicker and handier ponies. It would be difficult to show better animals than these (the English mounts) in any class of light horses.

"For the forthcoming matches the American players will have no superiority in ponies. They have not, it is well known, carried off any great prizes from the English polo market this time, and they have to depend on America for some of their ponies, supplemented, I believe, from Australia and the Argentine.

"These forty-two English ponies were not merely bought for show purposes or as general examples of the high class polo pony, but to suit particular riders. The duke of Westminister and Captain Miller knew, indeed, that they had to mount a team which consisted of fine horsemen; but the finest horsemen have their peculiarities, and the pony that suits one man will not suit another. The ponies are just in right condition, full of healthy muscles and firm flesh, yet not so completely wound up as they can be. This is an error into which Captain Miller would not fall, for there is still the final practice in America."

Referring to the players this writer says: "On one point only there is room for doubt, and it is an important one. I think there have never been such stickers at goal at the American players in a fast game. On the other hand we have a clear advantage in horsemanship. A better team of horsemen never rode on a polo field.

"In another respect," he adds, "we are very strong, as I doubt if the reserve men on the other side are as good as F. M. Freake and Lord Wodehouse at their best. These players would be invaluable if one of the first team was stale or for any reason obliged to stand down. Mr. Freake is a very hard working player with the gift of never being daunted by adverse fortune and able to rise to the occasion in a losing game."

Girl Breaks Record, Winning Three Firsts

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Miss Mary Frances Glass, a student at National Park seminary, at Forest Glen, Md., just outside the District of Columbia, established a world's record, it was announced today, when, during the seminary field meet Saturday, she won three firsts and one second in the events in which she entered. The record formerly was held by a Bryn Mawr girl. A local record was made when Miss Lelie Budd threw a baseball 116 feet 6 inches.

Miss Glass' victories were scored in the high jump, in which she went into first place with a mark of 3 feet 10 1-2 inches. In the sixty-yard high hurdles, which were negotiated in 10 2-5 seconds, and in the hop, skip and jump, which she won easily. She took second place in the running broad jump.

Star British Golfers Will Visit America

NEW YORK, May 27.—Edward Ray and Harry Vardon, the present and former open golf champions of Great Britain, respectively, will be in this country as early as the middle of August, according to word received at the Shawnee Country club. They will make their first appearance in this country as competitors in the Shawnee tournament August 22 and 23, gaining nearly a full month's practice on this side before the national open championship at Brookline, Mass., on September 17. After that they are expected to go to the Pacific coast to give an exhibition match at the Fertola celebration, receiving $2,500 each.

How to Care for Late Hatched Chickens

THIS has been a very favorable year for raising chickens, and the breeders who have continued to set and hatch throughout the entire season have been fortunate as they will find during next winter and spring it they have pullets of different ages that they will give them a uniform supply of eggs and they will not all begin laying at the same time. This is one mistake that many breeders make. They do not hatch enough chickens and different times during the year so as to have a uniform supply of eggs. But, this season has been unusually good. The only trouble has been that many people have not paid attention to their chickens and hatched off as many as they should have done. Thousands of eggs have been set during this month and many chickens will be hatched in June. The cool weather has made it splendid, for developing these young chicks and they have not suffered from heat. They have continued to grow and as a rule young chickens have done better this year than they have in many years past on account of it being dry and cool. The people who have attended to their chicks will certainly be rewarded for it.

As we can expect warm weather soon you should be very careful and watch out for insects, which is the greatest drawback we have in raising young chicks over the entire south. The premises that they inhabit should be kept clean, should be sprayed at least once every week with some of the disinfectants that are advertised in The Journal, and can be had so conveniently now that a few years ago we could not get these materials. Young chickens should not be crowded too many together. It will stunt them and keep them from growing if you attempt to keep too many in one place. Twenty-five to thirty-five brooder or hover size chickens are as many as should be kept in an ordinary brooder coop 3 feet by 4 feet. Of course if you have a house 10 feet by 10 feet after young chickens are feathered and frying size 75 to 100 can be kept in a house of this size.

Young growing chicks should be provided now with a good range so as to make them scratch for the tender sprouted grain, and fix a so that this can be had, by all means spade up the yard and sow it in grain so as to make them scratch for the tenper sprouted grain, and fix a good deep scratch pen where it can be well filled with litter of some kind, alfalfa hay preferred. The young chickens should be provided with plenty shade and fresh water should be given them at least twice a day. Keep the drinking vessels clean and use some good disinfectant in the drinking water at least twice a week.

They should have a variety of food. The ordinary scratch feed should be fed bountifully at least twice a day, and they will eat up with a relish, and one feed of boiled oats which should have some meat scraps and alfalfa meal mixed with them and mixed afterwards with equal parts of bran, shorts and corn meal or any of the dry mash feeds. By cooking this food in the morning it is cooled and ready to feed in the afternoon. Young chickens will enjoy this and nothing will make them grow faster. It is bulky, it will fill their systems with food that can be easily digested, it will start the growing frame inside and will give them a capacity after they are grwn to consume lots of food which they will afterwards utilize in the making of eggs. A chicken's future usefulness depends altogether on the way it has been raised while young, and if you wish a large supply of eggs next winter you cannot watch too closely and pay too much attention to the way you are feeding and caring for your young stock now that you will have to depend on hereafter to make you money.

In this day and time of strong competition the only man who can make a good per cent of profit out of any line of work is the one who watches the little details and knows how to produce fowls that will bring him an extra few dozen eggs per hen per year for the same feed and afternoon. The same thing applies to the number of acres of ground that are cultivated and the merchandise and manufacturing business is the only way possible by which any one can stay in the business and make a profit out of it, and above all things the young stock must be raised right.

Yours very truly,

AS AN ILLUSTRATION, we can sell the south east corner of Magnolia and Mangum streets, fronting 165 feet on Magnolia street, for $7,500. This lot contains six buildings, five residences, and a store, bringing in $60 a month. It is one of these good corners that in time will be necessary in assembling a block of land and will bring a fancy price.

ON SIMPSON STREET we can sell an entire block of frontage for $3,000. It lies in between Davis and Edwards streets, fronting 414 feet on Simpson street and extending back 130 feet. All three streets are paved and have all improvements down. This is the block with the old stone house on it.

HERE is a choice little factory site bordering directly on A., B. & A. railroad, the southwest corner of Pine and Wilson streets. It fronts 220 feet on the railroad and has three renting homes. Price $2,500.

WEST SIDE values are low in comparison with other sections, and they are sure to go up in the course of time's equalization. All forward-looking men should lay in a few west side investments for future use.

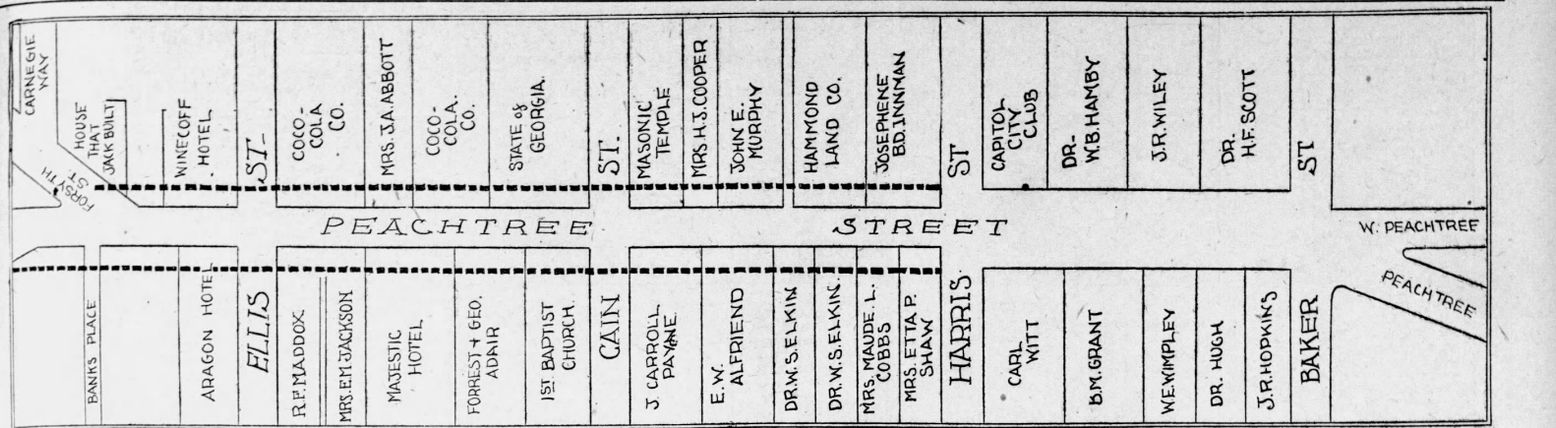
PROPOSED WIDENING OF PEACHTREE BETWEEN HARRIS STREET AND FORSYTH AND CARNEGIE WAY



The diagram shows how it is proposed to widen Peachtree street between Harris street and the intersection of Forsyth street and Carnegie way by taking a five-foot strip from each sidewalk. In this way the street would conform in width to the portion already widened between Harris and Baker streets.

The property owners have asked the city finance committee for $5,000 for this work, which would be enough, Captain Clayton says, to repave the strip with asphalt and transfer all pipes and mains.

This would relieve the congestion of the street and later on, as occasion demands, the sidewalks could be widened also, making a metropolitan business thoroughfare from the Grand opera house alley out to Baker street.

The committee now has the petition under advisement, and it is believed that the request will be granted in view of the reasonable amount asked.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Lot on Peachtree Beteewn Pine and Merritts Brings $1,250 a Foot, Two Small Parcels Being Taken as Part Payment–It Will Be Improved–West End Park Sale–No Extension Now of Healey Building–Peachtree Building Notes

An exchange of property which involved a total of $37,500 was announced on Tuesday.

W. F. Patterson, of Cheatham Brothers' agency, has sold for A. W. Van Hoose to C. J. Sheehan a vacant lot on Peachtree street, between Pine street and Merritts avenue, for $26,250, or at the rate of $1,250 a front foot.

This lot is on the east side of the street, beginning 156 feet north of Pine street. It has a frontage of 21 feet and a depth of 186 feet. Mr. Sheehan will at once improve the lot with a two-story business building.

Mr. Sheehan gave as part payment two parcels of aggregate value of $11,500. One is No. 228 South Pryor street, a two-story, eight-room house, on a lot 16x116. This is on the east side of the street, between Woodward avenue and Rawson street. It was valued at $8,000, or $160 a front foot.

The other parcel is 135 Davis street, on the west side. It consists of a six-room dwelling on a lot 50x200, on the east side of Davis street. Mr. Sheehan paid the balance of the purchase price on the Peachtree lot in money and notes.

WEST END PARK SALE.

Agents report a pretty brisk demand for good building lots and houses and lots.

Fischer & Cook have sold for D. A. Tobias to a client No. 48 Westwood avenue, a West End park home property, for $7,000. This consists of a six-room bungalow on a lot 70x265.

RUMOR DENIED.

It was reported Tuesday on what seemed to be pretty good authority that W. T. Healey, owner of the Healey building, would at once extend his building so as to cover the entire block bounded by Forsyth, Walton, Poplar and Broad streets instead of waiting until the present section facing Forsyth street could be completed.

Mr. Healey, however, said that the report was unfounded, and that his original plans would not be changed and that the building would be erected in sections, although eventually it would cover the block.

A good deal of steel has been put in place on the building and work, delayed for some time on account of the arrival of the steel derricks, is going ahead rapidly.

PEACHTREE WIDENING.

The diagram which appears under a separate head shows the proposed widening of Peachtree street. The city finance committee has under consideration the petition of the property owners for $5,000 for this work.

Mrs. J. R. Whitehead, who owns the former Elkin home property on Peachtree street between Cain and Harris, has plans for a building there. It is believed that this building will be about twelve stories. The old dwelling has been razed.

Other owners are figuring on five-story buildings, and it is believed that a good deal of building will be started once the street is widened.

NEGRO REFUGEE SHOT IN SWAMPS OF SCREVEN

(By Associated Press.)

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 27.—That Richard Henry Austin, the negro murderer from Hampton county, S. C., who killed Dr. S. C. Moore, Magistrate Edenfield and Mr. Victor Bowers several weeks ago, was himself killed by a posse in the swamps nearly twenty miles below Sylvania, in Screven county, Ga., early Monday night, is the story told in Augusta today by members of the posse returning to their homes in Carolina.

Austin was pursued by men and dogs until he had run to leave the swamp. In crossing an open space and while trying to get into an adjoining section of the swamp, bullets from revolvers and rifles and buckshot from the barrels of breech-loading shotguns shot him down.

Immanuel Baptist Revival

An interesting series of revival services is in progress at the Immanuel Baptist church, on Fair street. The pastor of the church, Rev. A. V. Pickern, is being assisted by Rev. T. F. Callaway, of Macon, while Mr. Charles Butler, for years the soloist in the Torrey-Alexander meetings, is leading the music.

Although just begun, the services are well attended and the interest is deepening with each service. The meetings will continue each afternoon at 3 o'clock and at 8 p. m. for ten days.

WILLIAM T. ELLIS GIVEN DOCTOR OF LAW DEGREE

Honor Conferred on Him by Davidson College, Following Address on Patriotism

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DAVIDSON, N. C., May 27.—At the close of an eloquent address on "Free Patriotism" by Mr. William T. Ellis, of Swarthmore, Pa., the degree of doctor of laws was conferred on him by President William J. Martin in behalf of Davidson college.

Honeymoon Penny Told Daniel Cary His Weight Is 215

Caught in the act of spending his last cent left from his honeymoon, Dan Carey, manager of the city park system, admitted that he weighed 215 pounds when he stepped from the weighing machine at the city hall corner Monday afternoon.

"Now Dan, tell us what the other side of you weighs?" asked Walter Taylor, who was backed up by a big policeman who had been called to the scene by a newsboy.

But genial Dan didn't reply, except to say he found a penny in his clothes, and he couldn't resist the temptation of seeing how fat or lean he had gotten.

She Asks $5,000 for Tobacco Juice Shower

Alleging that a street car conductor ejected a mouthful of tobacco juice in her face as she was about to mount a Woodward avenue trolley last April, Mrs. J. F. Hartsough brought suit Tuesday against the Georgia Railway and Power company for $5,000 damages for the "acute humiliation and mortification" she suffered on that occasion.

The petitioner claims she was in the act of boarding the car at the "half way" point at Baker and Peachtree streets on April 19, at 11:35 o'clock in the morning. She had one foot on the step, she claims, and a hand on the rail when suddenly she was spat upon, the spittle going in her face and on her dress.

She further states that after she had taken a seat in the car that she inquired of the conductor as to who had spat on her, and he answered her in a very curt manner.

The suit was filed by Attorneys Hill and Wright.

COMMISSION TAKES UP TROLLEY SERVICE CASE

Suggestions of President Arkwright for Improvement Considered Behind Closed Doors

In executive session Tuesday morning the state railroad commission began its investigation into the reports of inadequate service on some of the trolley routes operated in Atlanta by the Georgia Railway and Electric company, and took up for consideration the written communication of President Preston Arkwright, suggesting certain changes to improve the service.

The nature of these suggestions has not been hinted by Chairman Murphy Candler, and will not be given out to the public until the matter is settled.

The commission began its executive session at 10 o'clock. The entire morning was taken up in a careful consideration of the letter of President Arkwright. The meeting adjourned at 1 o'clock for lunch, to reconvene at 3 o'clock.

Special Talk on Baraca Work

Rev. Frank Anderson, field secretary of the World-Wide Baraca union, will deliver an address on Baraca work at the Edgewood Baptist church on next Monday evening, June 2, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Anderson is by far the best speaker along this line of Christian endeavor in the United States, and every one is invited to come out and hear him, but particularly the young men. This is the only place he will make an address in Atlanta.

No admission charge. Take Inman Park to Clifton car and get off at Mayson ave.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the face.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 250 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive book.

I MAKE A SPECIALTY OF SOUTHWEST GEORGIA FARMS

GOOD FARM $1250 PER ACRE.

160 ACRES three miles southwest of Forsyth, Ga., in Monroe county. This is in the best farming section of middle Georgia, fine red land, 100 acres in cultivation, rented for 25 bales of cotton standing rent. We can sell this fine farm for $15.00 per acre, $1,500.00 cash, balance divided into eight equal annual payments at 7 per cent, which would be $300 per year. The rent would bring $1,250.00 annually at 10 cents per pound for cotton. Will give one year's rent to purchaser. This place is well improved with plenty of tenant houses. This is in the healthiest section of Georgia and we don't know of a better buy in the country. Real value and good terms.

211 Crew St.---8-Room House $3,000

THIS is a well-built house on corner of Crew and Crumley, the lot being 50x100 feet. There are eight large rooms with a big airy bath room. A place like this at $3,000 can be made to pay for itself by sub-letting rooms. It is within the mile circle and within the block of both Washington street and Capitol avenue car lines. This home will rent for $30 a month, thus putting it on a 12 per cent basis.

"ASK MR. BABBAGE"

A Real Home at a Real Bargain

On FIFTEENTH street, between the Peachtrees, we offer one of the finest homes in that fine section. This home consists of eight rooms, a beautiful glass sun parlor or palm room, sleeping porch, garage with two servants' rooms above. Built of the very best pressed brick, hardwood throughout, tile roof, cement drive, and on a lot 50x200. You will never find a more complete, better located or more beautiful home at the price we are offering this one.

No expense has been spared to make this the most attractive home in the section in which it is located.

INTEREST SEEMS DEAD IN TALLULAH FALLS LAW SUIT

Of the Suit's Instigators, None Is Present in Court—Lawyers Fight Alone

BY SAM BELL.
Journal Staff Correspondent.

CLAYTON, Ga., May 27.—Unsupported by the presence of Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, president of the Tallulah Falls Conservation association and prime mover in the fight to conserve the falls in their natural condition, or by any word from her or from any of the other leaders in that fight, the attorneys for the association and for the state of Georgia today entered court to prosecute the claim which has been advanced in behalf of the state, disputing that of the Georgia Railway and Power company to the gorge of the Tallulah river. Already that gorge has been transformed and no longer is it the work of nature. The hand of man has altered it, and the Tallulah river is harnessed for the generation of power.

First blood was drawn by the power company's attorneys when, shortly before recess for lunch, at 1 o'clock, Judge Jones overruled a demurrer by the state. In its answer the power company incorporated a resolution enacted by the state legislature in 1905, wherein the legislature appointed a committee to investigate the advisability of the state buying the land in the river gorge. Upon that resolution the power company bases part of its answer, contending that the resolution was an admission by the state that it did not own the gorge land.

The state's demurrer to this petitioned the court to strike the resolution and any reference to it from the answer of the power company.

This was what the court refused to do.

TO END WEDNESDAY.

It was apparent Tuesday that the case would go to the jury some time Wednesday afternoon, and that a verdict might be expected Wednesday.

No word of encouragement from Mrs. Longstreet, or intimation that she would hasten to the trial, had been received by the lawyers for the state Tuesday.

The trial proceeded Tuesday in a court room peopled only by court officers, lawyers, jurors, newspaper men and a few residents. Not one woman was in attendance, and the crowd which had attended the opening of court Monday was absent.

Little or no interest in the case is manifested by others than those directly concerned in it. The great organization reputed to have been formed to save Tallulah Falls for the people of Georgia seems to have disintegrated.

Judge W. R. Little, of Cartersville, and R. C. Ellis, of Tifton, attorneys for the conservation association, together with Walter Hunnicutt, of Tallulah Falls, vice president of the association, form the sole support of Attorney General Thomas Swift Felder, of Macon.

Accompanied by a deputy sheriff, the three witnesses whose testimony Monday delayed the beginning of the trial, arrived in Clayton Tuesday morning. On their arrival the jury was drawn, and argument was begun on the demurrers filed by both the state and the power company.

EMBARRASSING RESOLUTION.

The resolution by the legislature, as late as 1905, admitting that the state did not own the Tallulah Falls property, because it sought to buy that property, was emphasized by Alex King, one of counsel for the power company, as indicating that the state had waived all claim to the land.

Because a number of citizens of the county, former owners of the land at Tallulah Falls, were made co-defendants by the state in its suit, considerable difficulty was experienced in selecting a jury that would not be related to those parties at interest. Some forty veniremen were excused upon that ground.

Following are the jurymen selected and sworn: David M. Rogers, Will Burrell, Daniel M. Kell, William N. Wall, A. L. Welborn, C. Sidney Bradley, W. M. Baker, William Bradley, James Williams, J. A. Tanner, John Dotson, M. L. Branlette.

NORTHERN BAPTISTS OPPOSE CHILD LABOR

Conference in Detroit Gives Its Attitude on Matters Relating to Labor and Home

(By Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Mich., May 27.—The attitude of the Northern Baptist church in matters relating to labor, the home and family and social service was set forth in the report of the social service commission read last night by the Rev. Samuel Zane Batten, before the convention now in session here. The commission presented a declaration of principles to be adopted by the church as its platform in dealing with these subjects.

The principal planks are:

A living wage as a minimum in every industry and for the highest wage that each industry can afford.

For gradual and reasonable reduction in hours of labor, to the lowest practical point.

Concentration of health and protection of the worker from the hardships of enery, occupational disease and mortality. Suitable provision for workers in old age and for those incapacitated by injury.

For right of all men to the opportunity for self maintenance and for protection of the worker fro mthe hardships of enforced unemployment.

For a new emphasis upon the application of Christian principles to the acquisition and use of property and for the most equitable division of the product of industry that can be devised.

For the abolition of child labor.

For such regulations of the conditions of toil for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community.

For the protection of the individual and society from the social, economic and moral waste of the liquor traffic.

The adoption by each church affiliated with the convention of a constructive program of social service and to seek to enlist its members directly in some forms of practical social reform.

Theological seminaries to have courses in social service that shall train pastors and workers for church leadership in community betterment.

Increase in social service commission from fifteen to eighteen members and three new membrs to be women and that one woman member of the commission be elected each year.

DUBLIN BAND IN CITY ON ITS WAY TO REUNION

Men of the Shamrocks Stop Monday Afternoon Here En Route for Chattanooga

The band of Dublin, Ga., twenty-five members strong, passed through Atlanta Monday afternoon on its way to the Confederate reunion at Chattanooga, where it will take part in the ceremonies during the four days the reunion lasts this week, returning home next Friday.

The band, which has been in existence for four years is one of the most famous in the state. The blue-coated players, with the green shamrocks, the emblem of their city, on their left arms, have been familiar figures at Confederate reunions for years past.

The band is the only one in the state, it is said, to boast a full saxophone quartet. George A. Chase is its present director. The band was accompanied by several other Dublinites, among them a number of ladies.

WILLIAM GREEN SENT TO PRISON FOR LIFE

Columbus Man Hasn't Spoken Word Since March 16—Now on Trial

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 27.—By agreement of attorneys, the solicitor general and the presiding judge, William Green this morning pleaded guilty to killing O. D. Kitchens, on March 9, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

A peculiar feature about the defendant's case is the fact about the defendant's case is the fact that he has not spoken a word since March 16, and his general appearance has been that of a crazy man.

Lawyers Prepare for Warm Springs Meeting

STATEHOUSE OFFICERS GET REPORTS READY

State house officials are getting down to work and preparing their reports to be made to the next general assembly, which convenes June 25.

State Game and Fish Commissioner Jesse E. Mercer and Comptroller General William A. Wright were busy Tuesday morning getting their respective reports in shape for the printer.

Mr. Mercer admitted that he would make several recommendations to the legislature looking toward a revision of the law. There are some points that are not quite clear and he will ask that the wording be made more explicit to govern certain cases.

COMMENCEMENT OPENS AT MERCER ON JUNE 1

Diamond Jubilee Will Be One of Chief Attractions of the Exercises

MACON, Ga., May 27.—Final arrangements for the seventy-fifth commencement exercises at Mercer university have been made. The exercises begin on June 1 and continue through the 4th. Every effort is being made to make the Diamond Jubilee one of the chief attractions of the exercises.

The commencement sermon will be preached on Sunday morning, June 1, at the Mercer chapel, whereas it has been preached before at the First Baptist church of Macon. The committee in charge of arrangements say that the faculty wish all exercises to be held on the campus so that it will be a strictly college affair. Dr. W. W. Arnold, of Buena Vista, will deliver the commencement sermon.

Wednesday, June 4, 10:30 a. m., commencement exercises and delivery of diplomas.

Seaborn Wright Will Speak at Macon Sunday

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., May 27.—Seaborn Wright, former candidate for governor, will make an address at the city auditorium here next Sunday afternoon on the prohibition question. He comes at the invitation of several of the Macon ministers who have been making such a crusade against the illegal traffic of liquor in Macon.

The meeting will be a regular mass meeting given for the entertainment of everybody. Rev. John L. White, pastor of the Vineville Baptist church here, stated today that he has received a communication from Mr. Wright, stating that he would be here Sunday afternoon to deliver his talk on the prohibition law.

Macon Baracas Plan For 1914 Convention

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., May 27.—Macon members of the Baraca and Philathea classes will hold a meeting at the Mulberry Street Methodist church next Friday night for the purpose of considering plans for the 1914 national convention. Since over $1,000 has been raised as an entertainment fund for the delegates of the national convention, the members of the local classes say that the only thing now left undone is the naming of committees to attend the national convention this year and fight for the convention.

Representative delegation for cities south of Macon have agreed to throw all their strength to Macon, when the question of naming the next meeting place comes up. It is believed that Macon will be selected since the two classes have worked so strenuously for the past three months to make arrangement for the convention next year.

Odd Fellows Leave for Grand Lodge Meeting

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., May 27.—Representatives who will attend the grand lodge of Odd Fellows that meet in Savannah this year, left this morning for that city. The drill team of the Yonah Rebecca lodge also went to Savannah to compete for the state prize. Miss Nell Rodriguez is captain of the Macon team. About twenty of the drill team went from Macon.

J. B. Mills, one of the best known Odd Fellows of the state, will ask that the 1914 annual meeting be held in Macon. He had selected considerable data showing the grand lodge why they should select this city as their meeting place. It is said that Fitzgerald will also ask for the grand lodge next year.

Mrs. Amelia Grave Dies At Her Home in Macon

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., May 27.—Mrs. Amelia Grave, widow of the late Lieutenant L. W. Grace, died yesterday at her late home, 764 Plum street, after a week's illness. She was fifty-eight years of age and a consistent member of St. Joseph's Catholic church. One month ago her mother died at her home, and since that time she has been so grieved that an illness followed, causing her death.

One sister, Mrs. C. P. Lucas, and one brother, William Franke, survive her. The funeral was held from her late home this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Father T. D. Madden officiating. Interment was made in Rose Hill cemetery.

Hades Rather Than Prison Bars, He Cries

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 27.—"I would rather go to Hades than the Atlanta prison," cried H. E. Jones, an old Confederate soldier, when he was led from the United States court room yesterday after pleading guilty to an indictment charging him with sending nonmailable matter through the mails.

The federal grand jury filed its report yesterday and as soon as Jones was notified that he had been indicted he pleaded guilty. Minimum sentence of six months was pronounced by the court. Ninety-three indictments were returned by the grand jury.

Deaths and Funerals

MR. JACK L. PALMER.

The funeral of Mr. Jack L. Palmer, who died Sunday afternoon at his residence, 45 Irwin street, was held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at H. M. Patterson's chapel. Interment was at Greenwood cemetery.

YOU CAN'T BE BEAUTIFUL IF YOUR LIVER DOESN'T WORK

One of the best known women of the American stage is writing a series of articles on the preservation of beauty. She attaches great importance to keeping the liver active at all times, and she is right. Neither good looks nor happiness will stay long with any man or woman who lets the liver get lazy and sluggish.

It is not always safe to take calomel, the old liver remedy. Doctors agree that it is a very uncertain drug. But every druggist has a remedy for sale that is guaranteed to take the place of calomel absolutely, and still be harmless, causing no restraint of habit of diet. This remedy is Dodson's Liver Tone.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting vegetable liquid, but it starts the liver gently and surely and relieves constipation and biliousness so promptly that it has become a dependable remedy in thousands of homes in the United States. There are scores of families in this vicinity who will not be without it in the house and who would not think of starting on a trip without a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone.

So much Dodson's Liver Tone has been sold in this city that druggists are convinced of its merits and will give any person his 50 cents back who buys a bottle and does not find that it takes the place of calomel to perfection.—(Advt.)

PUTS AN END TO BACKACHE MAKES WEAK KIDNEYS STRONG

A Few Doses Give Relief, Helps Lifeless Organs Regain Health, Strength and Activity.

It is useless, dangerous, and unnecessary to be tortured with the digging, twisting pains of backache and rheumatism, or suffer with disagreeable kidney and bladder disorders any longer.

The new discovery, Croxone, provides a remedy which every sufferer can now depend upon to promptly and surely relieve all such misery.

Croxone relieves these troubles because it quickly overcomes the cause of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the membranes and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands; neutralises and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and makes the kidneys filter and sift from the blood all the waste and poisonous matter that clog the system and cause such troubles.

It does not matter whether you have but slight symptoms or the most chronic, aggravated case of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism that it is possible to imagine, for the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.—(Advt.)
